Borah Defends Debuture Plan of Farm Aid; Cutting Assaults Tendency Toward Bureaucracy.

WASHINGTON, March 11.—(AP)—A series of legislative proposals were advanced today at a meeting of progressives of both political parties called to formulate a program for the next session of congress.

Both the Hoover administration and the platform advanced by Chairman Raskob to the democratic national committee came in for attacks as committees were appointed to draft legislative recommendations.

Prohibition bobbed up momentarily tonight when Charles A. Beard, historian, said progressive opinion was against repeal of the eighteenth amendment without provision for some form of public control over liquor.

His statement, however, provoked no discussion on this issue. It was made in reply to a list of questions propounded to the conference by Republican Leader Watson, of the senate.

Senator Norris, republican, Nebraska, advanced the power issue as the dominant one for 1932 in a condemnation of the "power trust." Senator Borah, Idaho republican, assailed the Raskob platform and advocated the export debuture plan of farm relief which President Hoover has rejected.

Senator Cutting, republican, New Mexico, urged abolition of the election college in electing presidents. He assailed huge election campaign funds and proposed strengthening the corrupt practices act to curb the influence of money in politics.

A committee headed by Senator Costigan, democrat, Colorado, drafted recommendations for tariff revision which will be submitted to the conference tomorrow.

The group attending the conference will hold a balance of power in the next session if a well-knit organization should develop.

Beard brought up prohibition in reply to questions propounded to the conference by Senator Watson, of Indiana, the republican leader.

"While there is reason for treating prohibition as a red herring to use among the voters to divert attention from the valuable things which these men think this conference might accomplish," Beard added.

He emphasized his reply was not his personal opinion, "but that answers as I find them written in the progressive opinion of the country."

Senator Cutting, republican, New Mexico, said the conference was a "typical of the propaganda to be used among the voters to divert attention from the valuable things which these men think this conference might accomplish."

Replying to other questions by Watson, Beard said "the weight of progressive opinion is against the government undertaking ownership and operation of the railways, but he insisted that the government must provide for co-ordination of traffic and for economies lest government ownership be demanded."

He added progressive opinion is against "wholesale nationalization" of electrical power business.

Calling the meeting to order at the fashionable Carlton hotel, Norris continued in Page 8, Column 7.

DR. EDWARD CAMPBELL DAVIS.

DR. E. C. DAVIS DIES IN HOSPITAL HERE

Co-Founder of Atlanta
Hospital and Noted War
Surgeon Passes.

Dr. Edward Campbell Davis, 63, of 741 Spring street, N. W., one of the founders of the Davis-Fischer sanatorium, (now the Crawford W. Long Memorial hospital and clinic) a fellow of the American College of Surgeons, and an army surgeon in both the Spanish-American and World Wars, died at 7:10 o'clock Wednesday night at the hospital following an illness of three years.

The brilliant medical career of Dr. Davis began shortly after he graduated with an M. D. degree from the medical department of the University of Louisville, Ky., in 1882. Previously he had attended school in his native city, Albany, Ga., and Boys' High school in Louisville, Ky.

Dr. Davis started his practice of medicine in Atlanta as an associate of Dr. J. E. S. Holmes in the old Halcyon hospital here soon after leaving college. The Spanish-American War came on, and he served with the Second Georgia Volunteer infantry as major and surgeon, later being made chief surgeon. He also was a captain and surgeon of the Fifth Georgia regiment of Atlanta.

Twenty years ago, with Dr. L. C. Fischer, Dr. Davis founded the Davis-Fischer hospital on Crew street, and the institution later was moved to its present location in a fine, modern building at 25 Linden, N. E.

When the call for medical men was sounded in the World War on America's entry, Dr. Davis promptly organized A. E. F. Base Hospital No. 43, known as "The Emory unit," the fact that it had so many Emory men in its membership, Dr. Fischer served as a lieutenant colonel in the unit and was awarded a certificate of merit by General John J. Pershing for efficient work.

Dr. Davis was decorated by King Alexander of Greece and given membership in the Order of the Legion of Honor. He was also awarded an honorary LL.D. degree by Emory University at commencement last June for conceiving, organizing and serving as lieutenant colonel of the Emory unit in the war.

Dr. Davis was known to the medical profession as the "daddy of the Emory unit."

Lewis C. Gregg, local artist, recently was commissioned to do an oil painting of Dr. Davis for presentation by the Emory unit to the university at the June commencement.

The painting will be ready within a few weeks, it was said Wednesday night. It will be one of a number of paintings of distinguished men who have taught in the Emory medical school, and will hang in a gallery dedicated to the medical profession.

The members of the Emory unit are expected to attend the funeral as a group.

In addition to membership on the board of governors of the American College of Surgeons, Dr. Davis held important offices in the Fulton County Medical Society. He was a past president of the society and at the time of his death was chairman of the board of trustees. He was professor emeritus of gynecology of Emory's medical school, having taught for 20 years in the Atlanta School of Medicine, which became the Emory school.

Dr. Davis was born October 11, 1867, at Albany, the son of Dr. William L. Davis, a physician of that city, and Mrs. Ella Catherine Winkler Davis, formerly of Savannah.

Dr. Davis is survived by his widow, five daughters, Misses Catherine, Maria, Theodora and Sarah Davis, of Atlanta, and Mrs. Frederick Marks, of Rome, N. Y.; three sons, Dr. Shelby Davis, Robert Carter Davis and Lieutenant E. C. Davis, Jr., of the army air corps; a sister, Miss Edwina Lee Davis, of Albany, and a nephew, Worth Yankey, Jr., of Atlanta.

FULTON-CAMPBELL MERGER ELECTION CALLED APRIL 22

Voters of Fulton To Decide
If Two Counties
Shall Become One; Majority Is Needed.

Fulton county will vote on April 22 on the question of a merger of Campbell and Fulton counties. Judge Thomas H. Jeffries, ordinary of Fulton, announced late Wednesday afternoon. Campbell county voters approved the merger by almost four to one February 17, and if the vote in this county is favorable, the combination of the two counties will take effect on January 1, 1932.

Judge Jeffries said that he will sign an order today calling the election. A majority vote of Fulton county citizens will be necessary to approve the merger. A two-third vote was required in Campbell county.

The Campbell-Fulton merger is provided for in an act of the general assembly passed in 1929 following its introduction by Representative Homer C. Gullatt, of Campbell. Under the act, Campbell county administration would be taken over by Fulton county authorities, and Campbell would become a part of this county, extending Fulton's frontage on the Chattahoochee river to the south.

The merged county would cover 336 square miles, one of the 57 largest in the state, Campbell having 211 square miles and Fulton 125 square miles. Campbell's assessed valuation is $4,000,000 and that of Fulton is $285,000,000. Campbell's population is 9,003 and Fulton's 318,587.

Both counties are in the thirty-third congressional district, but Campbell is in the Stone Mountain judicial circuit and Fulton county in the Atlanta circuit. Fairburn is the county seat of Campbell, and Atlanta of Fulton.

Representative Gullatt and other sponsors of the merger have drawn attention to Campbell's possible industrial development as one of the principal advantages to Fulton of such a merger. Campbell is on a sound financial basis, according to a recent statement, and Fulton would not be gaining additional debts as well as territory and citizens, Gullatt pointed out.

American Bathing Beauty Kills Husband in Paris

MRS. F. G. NIXON-NIRDLINGER, NEE CHARLOTTE NASH.

NICE, France, March 11.—(UP)—Mrs. Fred G. Nixon-Nirdlinger, 26, formerly Charlotte Nash, was arrested late tonight on the charge of murdering her husband, a Philadelphia theater magnate. She was "Miss St. Louis" in the 1923 Atlantic City beauty contest and won second place.

The police charged she shot her husband at their private villa on the fashionable Promenade Des Anglais. There were no witnesses to the shooting.

She is the third wife of the Philadelphia theatrical man and has two children, one three years old and the other 18 months. Nixon-Nirdlinger is understood to have two sons by a previous marriage.

According to police, the shooting was the climax of a quarrel between husband and wife which started as she was studying Italian. Her husband was quoted as having said: "You just want to learn that for your Italian friend."

He became physically menacing, police said, whereupon Mrs. Nixon-Nirdlinger grabbed a revolver from a bureau and fired twice, the second shot proving fatal. She then told the maid to telephone the police and calmly awaited their arrival.

The young children of the couple slept quietly in an adjoining room throughout the quarrel and shooting and have not yet been informed of their father's death.

ROOSEVELT ASKED TO ORDER PROBE OF MAYOR WALKER

Anti-Crime Society Tells Governor "Wise-Cracking" Policy Must End
and Vice Lessen.

NEW YORK, March 11.—(AP)—The Society for the Prevention of Crime today made public an appeal it had sent to Governor Roosevelt asking that Samuel Seabury, chief investigator of the magistrates' court and District Attorney Thomas C. Crain be empowered to make a city-wide investigation.

It was announced that the members and directors of the anti-crime society had endorsed the action. The appeal was in the form of a letter to the governor and members of the legislature.

It stated that the directors felt "it would be fruitless to appeal to the mayor of the city of New York for aid in rectifying existing conditions."

"We would like some proof by aggressive action that the mayor really desires a clean city," the directors wrote. "We doubt whether the mayor dares to give it to us."

"There is ample law to reach the conditions which seem now to agitate him."

"We believe 'wise-cracking,' the mere appointment of committees and the mayor's laissez faire policy must end. In the presence of dastardly conditions already disclosed, a flippant attitude by such a mayor as we have should be the subject of an investigation."

The letter contained no formal charges against any public officers. The mayor is on his way to California on vacation.

At a meeting of the New York Board of Trade, men and women approved a motion for a complete and immediate legislative inquiry into the city's affairs.

The society's letter, a three-page document, set forth that racketeering, "public and private," have reaped a harvest.

The letter charges the mayor should have known of the existence of conditions not known to exist in the city. It asserts that "for many years the attitude of the mayor, the police commissioner, and the district attorney have generally been unfeeling to those who tried to expose dirty official conditions."

The Society for the Prevention of Crime, now headed by William J. Schiefelin, as president, was responsible in 1905 for the Lexow investigation, forced on the legislature by the sermons of the society's militant president, Dr. Charles H. Parkhurst.

NOTHING TO IT.
SAYS THE MAYOR

KANSAS CITY, March 11.—(AP)—Mayor James J. Walker said here today he was not disturbed by the demand of the New York Society for the Prevention of Crime for an inquiry into his official acts and said he intended to let it interrupt his first vacation in more than a year.

"I'll be back in a couple of weeks and they may investigate me all they want," Mayor Walker, traveling in a private railroad car, stopped over here three hours. He is en route to California.

PANTAGES IS HELD ON GIRL'S CHARGES

Theatrical Magnate Is Freed on Bond in "Love Mart" Probe.

SAN DIEGO, Cal., March 11.—(AP)—For the second time in two years Alexander Pantages, millionaire vaudeville magnate, was arraigned today on a criminal charge involving young girls.

The showman and John P. Mills, prominent San Diego real estate man, surrendered to police and were arraigned on charges of complicity in patronage of the Los Angeles "love bazaar" from which girls allegedly were procured for week-end parties of wealthy men.

Pantages, already under $100,000 bail while fighting a conviction of having attacked Eunice Pringle, young dancer, in August, 1929, was released on $15,000 bonds and Mills gained freedom on $10,000 bail.

Preliminary hearing for Pantages, Mills and Jesse Shreve, wealthy San Diegoan arrested yesterday on similar charges, was set for March 30.

The three wealthy men, together with William Jobelmann, former publicity man, and Olive Clark Day, were named in complaints issued yesterday by District Attorney Thomas Whelan as an outgrowth of an investigation of the "love mart."

Whelan charged Jobelmann and Miss Day, alleged operators of the mart, brought Helen Livingston, 16, here from Los Angeles last October 30 with the assistance of Mills and that the girl was paid by Shreve for acting as Pantages' companion at a hotel. A second complaint charged Mills, Shreve, Jobelmann and the woman with bringing Lydia Nitto, 16, another "love market" girl, here.

Conspiracy to violate laws and actual violation of the juvenile court laws were charged against all five defendants.

Although he did not enter a formal plea, Pantages denied any connection with the mart, saying the charges "were just dirt" dug up by enemies to hurt his appeal in the Pringle case. Pantages came here from Agua Caliente, where he has been resting.

The theater magnate was convicted late in 1929 of assaulting Miss Pringle, Los Angeles University student, and was sentenced to from one to fifty years in the penitentiary. He appealed on grounds he was the victim of a frame-up.

ASSEMBLY SPLIT ON FUTURE POLICY CONCERNING BILL

One Faction Desires To

Hardman Veto of Money Measure.

OTHERS WOULD END

Governor Suggests Pas-

BY R. E. POWELL

Stumped by the definite announcement of Governor Hardman that he will not sign the Battle-Allen bill to discount Western & Atlantic railroad rentals, the special session of the general assembly will begin its 65th day this morning with its leadership divided over sine die adjournment or later than tomorrow or an attempt to override the executive veto.

As the assembly quit work Wednesday, either course appeared probable with the most pronounced action, lead by friends of Governor-elect Russell, pointing to an effort to bring about a sine die adjournment before the rentals discount bill runs the gamut of legislative red tape and gets to the governor for his approval or disapproval.

Opponents of the bill continued to claim Wednesday that they had 16 senate votes pledged to sustain the executive veto but, even if the claim is well founded, the margin left is sufficient to override the veto in the senate and little doubt is entertained that the house will give the measure the necessary two-thirds vote to assure passage without the governor's signature.

Governor Tells Plans.

Governor Hardman communicated to newsmen Wednesday his intention to veto the bill back to the assembly without his approval, expressing the hope, in his conference, that the house and senate would speed the bill to the governor so that he could return it and save the state "an extra $5,000 for two days legislative work."

He suggested that the senate pass the cigar and cigarette tax bill for the benefit of the pensioners, the bill to provide payment for the advertisement of last election's constitutional amendments, the bill to purchase a new state prison farm and the executive budget bill.

"It's too late now to think any more about the highway diversion bill," he explained to newsmen.

Following his conference with the newsmen, the governor saw Representatives Willis Battle, of Muscogee, and Marion Allen, of Baldwin, and informed them of his intention to veto the bill they had sponsored for the emergency relief of the charitable institutions and the schools. He announced to them that he would send a special messenger back with his rejection of the bill.

In some quarters the opinion prevailed, even after the governor's statement, that if the legislature adjourns Continued in Page 8, Column 5.

GROCERS' MEETING
PLANS OUTLINED

The Atlanta Retail Food Dealers' Association adopted resolutions at its meeting Tuesday night at the Chamber of Commerce approving the state convention of retail food dealers to be held in Savannah June 8 and 9.

Plans for the convention were outlined by William Monsees, of Savannah. The grocers in the convention city are arranging an elaborate entertainment program, Mr. Monsees said, and the meeting will be entertaining as well as educational.

Among those on the program were: Mark H. Hopkins, southern division manager of the Kellogg Sales Corporation; T. Newman, president of Atlanta Savings Stores, and Ernest L. Bell, Morris Weinberg, president of the organization, president.

Sex Education Class
Proposed in Schools

School officials Wednesday turned their attention to consideration of a sex education program to be conducted in the junior and senior high schools, if established in connection with the Atlanta public school system.

H. Reid Hunter, assistant superintendent of schools, declared the matter was getting the "thought" of educational leaders following an address Tuesday afternoon by Dr. Valeria Parker, director of the American Social Hygiene Association, to principals and physical directors of the Atlanta system.

Dr. Parker declared that sex knowledge and clean living habits which such education would form would do much to prevent "tragedies that take place in youth."

New Underground 'Radio City'
To Enlarge New York Catacombs

BY LEO J. RYAN.

NEW YORK, March 11.—(AP)—Radio is extending the area of New York's "catacombs."

Before the announcement that the $250,000,000 "radio city," planned for uptown Gotham, would contain not only a city in the clouds, but another under the ground, New York already had quite a city beneath the surface of the earth.

It is now possible to buy almost anything except a house and lot without coming to the surface. Carpenters' tools, clothing, flowers, groceries, shoes, shaves, haircuts, tobacco, ice cream sodas, toys—all may be had in the labyrinth of shops that make up the underground city in the Hudson river terminal downtown, connecting with the subway and the Hudson river tubes, leading to Jersey.

The largest of the "catacombs" cities on Manhattan, up to now, has two levels and as many shops and stores as a good-sized mid-western county seat. It covers the area between two whole city squares.

Other subterranean "cities" include a large one at the uptown Hudson terminal at Broadway and Thirty-third street, a very large one at the Grand Central station, and lesser "cities" at Times Square and the Pennsylvania station. Vanderbilt concourse, a long passageway out of the Grand Central subway, is incorporated.

These are the spillways of the great flood of 4,000,000 human beings that pour through the subway turnstiles of New York every day, crowding into the little island that once sold for $24, according to the tale.

The new subterranean section of the uptown "radio city" will not depend upon the subway for its population.

Its patrons will be the minions of thought and harmony flashing through the ether and the searchers after entertainment who will crowd into the three theaters of the new "city."

This underground city will have garages, service platforms, arcades and shops of all kinds. There will be two levels, one at 17 feet and the other at 34 feet below the ground. Through the subterranean city the whole of the "radio city," extending to 65 stories above the surface, will be "served."

Somewhere near 1,000 cars can be taken care of in its garages. The new "city" will cover nearly three city blocks.

HOMES FOR GIRLS HAVE VACANCIES

There are a few vacancies in the five church homes for girls sponsored by the Community Employment Service, it was announced Wednesday by John A. Manget, chairman of the board of directors, who stated that since the report of the home service published in The Constitution a month ago, Irish girls have been given homes, and only nine of that number are out of work.

"Every one of these 203 girls has made good," Mr. Manget said, "and one having been requested to move on account of her failing to measure up to the high requirements of girls living in these homes. There are still some vacancies and a limited number of girls may find a good home, even though they have no money to pay board and are without a job. There is only one requirement, and that is that all girls must be of good moral character and must use their best endeavors to make good."

One of the principal speakers of the occasion will be Rabbi Marx, while Hughes Spalding, well known attorney, also will deliver a brief talk. Irish songs will feature the observance, and from 10 p. m. until 1 a. m., a dance will be held. GRAND OPERA STAR COMMITTS SUICIDE

NEW YORK, March 11.—(AP)—William Gustafson, six-foot Metropolitan opera bass, shot himself to death in his apartment last night.

The police said that following a quarrel with his wife, Mrs. Mary Wells Gustafson, he had taken the children to the home of her mother in Boston and he vowed he would kill himself. As she phoned for Pullman reservations, she heard a shot and found him lying on the floor with a wound in the temple. He was dead when a doctor arrived.

Gustafson, 42, created the role of Maccus in "The King's Henchmen" and had acted the Viking in Rimsby-Korsakoff's "Sadko." Some of his other roles were the major-domo in the Metropolitan's first offering of "Boccaccio," Fafner in "Sigfried," King Henry in "Lohengrin," and the Landgrave in "Tannhauser." He sang in four languages.

He was born in Arlington, Mass., and made his first professional appearance in Boston in 1915. He was a second lieutenant of infantry during the World War. Among his clubs were the Players and the Dutch Treat.

Well Known Here.

William Gustafson was well known in Atlanta where he sang on numerous occasions with the Metropolitan Opera Company on their annual seasons in this city. His best known roles, locally, were in the Wagnerian operas.

32 Doctors Report Findings On Sargon

So remarkable have been the results accomplished by Sargon in helping restore health to countless thousands of people that during the past thirty days alone thirty-two leading physicians have broken the rule of a life-time and have come out openly and publicly to give it their unqualified endorsement.

So startling have been the reports in many thousands of cases that selected physicians in principal cities were expressly retained to study the Sargon formula and report their findings so that the public might know the whole truth.

Outstanding among the number are:

Dr. P. K. Drummond, plant physician for Ford Motor Company, Detroit, for 12 years.

Dr. C. J. Roberts, Philadelphia—Examining Physician for the Pennsylvania Railroad for 24 years.

Dr. W. L. Mail—Graduate McGill University Faculty of Medicine, Montreal—Medical Examiner for Sears, Roebuck, Detroit.

Commercial posters submitted by students of Joe Brown Junior and Tech High schools and Washington Seminary were selected Wednesday by the judges in the state eliminations for Georgia in the national contest sponsored by the American Library Association for the best art work adaptable for publicity purposes in its campaign to stimulate interest in books.

The three examples of commercial art of the local schools will be on exhibit with other entries in the state-wide contest in the state library, at the capitol the remainder of this week. After that the three outstanding posters will be sent to Chicago, where they will be judged with the work of other schools all over the country. The winning posters will be announced at the meeting of the American Library Association in New Haven, Conn., June 22.

James Bailey, student of Joe Brown Junior High, with his poster depicting a castle built of books and bearing the slogan, "Build Your Castle With Books," was adjudged the best creator in the state eliminations Wednesday. Second prize went to the work of Kitty Lewis, also of Joe Brown Junior High, and third prize to Maurice Towery, likewise a Joe Brown Junior pupil. Inasmuch as the rules restricted entry into the national eliminations to only one poster from each school that of young Bailey will represent his school.

Washington Seminary will be represented in the national judging by the poster of Virginia Werber, while the work of John McFadden, of Tech High, will be submitted for that school.

Judges in the contest were J. J. Haverty, Mrs. Julian Harris and Miss May Haverty.

First prize is $100 in books to the school; second $50 worth of books, and third $25 worth of books.

BUSINESS BETTER, HOOVER IS TOLD

Charles F. Abbott Says "Business Is on Upward Grade," After Nationwide Tour.

WASHINGTON, March 11.—(AP)—Charles F. Abbott, executive director of the American Institute of Steel Construction, told President Hoover today he had "found business definitely on the upgrade" on an extended trip just finished.

He made a survey for the institute which took him from coast to coast and on which he said he had found business conditions generally good. "We found a confidence in the administration and the popularity of the president himself that is improving every day," he said.

Abbott also told the president he had been very much impressed by the lack of social upheavals which generally accompany an economic depression.

Dr. Sam Small Tells Intimate Memories Of Many Presidents

Intimate recollections of presidents, from Buchanan to Harrison, were given by Dr. Sam W. Small, of The Constitution, before a record attendance of members of the Atlanta Masonic Club at the club's luncheon Wednesday afternoon in the Wincoff hotel. The speaker was introduced by Herbert Porter.

Drawing on the wealth of his experience as Washington correspondent for The Constitution, with which he has served for a period of 56 years, Dr. Small presented vivid glimpses of Buchanan, Lincoln, Andrew Johnson, Grant, Hayes, Garfield, Arthur, Cleveland and Harrison. At the conclusion of his speech the club requested that he continue the series down to the present time at its meeting next Wednesday.

Dr. Small, probably the only man living who attended the inauguration of both Lincoln and Jefferson Davis, president of the Confederacy, told of his intimate friendship with Andrew Johnson, Lincoln's successor, and of serving as his private secretary following Johnson's term as president.

Interviews with President Grant were described, and President Hayes, Grant's successor, who appointed Dr. Small secretary of the American commission at Paris during the International Exposition of 1878. The story of President Garfield and his assassination less than four months after his inauguration was another interesting feature of the talk.

took a special interest in the establishment of the municipal market, to which Mr. Jones gave much support in the columns of his labor publication.

Mrs. Jones took a prominent part in the building program of the Woman's Club and in its earliest activities. A marked tribute to her untiring efforts in any cause which she was called upon to support was paid by Mrs. Irving Thomas, her former associate.

Mrs. Jones also took an active interest in Red Cross work and was always a leader in the drives for funds and for members sponsored by that organization. Owing to failing health, however, she had relinquished all active connection with such work during the past two or three years.

Although a Baptist, Mrs. Jones was a member of Mrs. Alonzo Richardson's Bible class at St. Mark's Methodist church. In addition to her husband, she is survived by a son, Jerome Jones, Jr.; her mother, Mrs. Sarah Collier, and a granddaughter, Miss Joann Jones.

Cross Sections of Life In Gate City of South

Two important committee meetings are slated for 3 o'clock this afternoon at the city hall. They are the sanitary and water committees. The police committee will hold its regular semi-monthly session at 7:30 o'clock tonight at the police station.

Friday will be a busy day in governmental affairs. At 10 o'clock Friday morning the finance committee will meet. At 2 o'clock in the afternoon a public hearing will be held on a proposal to bar automobiles from parking on Atlanta streets from midnight until 6 o'clock in the morning. The streets committee will meet at 3 o'clock in the afternoon.

Mayor James L. Key Wednesday declared he would personally investigate the conflicting sites for location of a school in the Cascade section of Atlanta before approving a check to pay for the property. His statement came on the heels of approval of one of the tracts Tuesday by the board of education. Council is to pay $5,000 asked for the site, and councilmanic delegations favor the one which the board did not select.

Resurfacing of Fair street from Whitehall to Pryor will be completed within the next few days, it was announced Wednesday by construction department officials.

Establishment of permanent parking lines in the city hall lot was begun Wednesday by construction department officials. Room for 85 cars will be marked off and all those using the lot must park according to the layout. L. Glenn Dewberry, superintendent of building, announced.

The supreme court Wednesday denied the appeal of Willie Lee Cox and Gilbert Glaze, negroes, sentenced to die in the electric chair for the murder last September of J. B. McWhorter, street car operator, who refused to submit to robbery when held up. The negroes shot him to death, the evidence showed.

Contracts for paving of 13 miles of roads and the building of two bridges will be let by the state highway board on March 25, it was announced Wednesday. The roads to be paved are 8.2 miles between Edgewood and Madison and 4.8 miles between Statesboro and Savannah.

FLOODS WREAK HAVOC IN FRENCH VALLEYS

Ten Thousand Believed Forced From Homes by High Waters.

PARIS, March 11.—(UP)—Storms and melting snow flooded nearly every river in the country today. Peasants in a dozen valleys were reported evacuating entire villages, scurrying for higher ground.

Villages in Saone-et-Loire in the Rhone valley, and others in the broad valley of the Meuse were reported deserted as the populace fled before the rising waters. The Loire river broke its levees, isolating villages and severing communications and electric lines. Minor landslides were reported in the region of Vendome. Ten thousand families were driven from their homes throughout France, it was estimated. The suffering was reported particularly acute in the central highlands, where the temperature dropped to 18 degrees Fahrenheit.

The blizzard which swept Paris and north central France in the past 48 hours subsided today. The Seine river, however, was 5.72 meters (18.76 feet) above normal, and the authorities sent out warnings. It was feared the Seine might break from its channel.

The bitter, damp cold added to the misery of the people. Train services in the lower Alps were disrupted in many places, and most roads were reported impassable, blocked by landslides and drifts.

A landslide at Bordes-Louron devastated 10 acres of land. Several farm houses were destroyed. The slide halted at the walls of an old church in the village. Report from Chambery said 40 persons had evacuated their homes in the region of Beauges, in Savoy, because of a threatened landslide. A rock slide at Tarentaise injured three persons. At Cherbourg, the steamship Europe arrived 18 hours late, due to tempestuous winds.

Stick to the BIG IDEA

EVERY right-minded man who starts in to make something to sell is sustained by a valid idea.

He is convinced that his product embodies a real advantage for the user and that therefore intelligent people will buy it.

On that simple and durable premise have been reared in the past quarter-century the greatest business and industrial structures in America.

The process of their erection has been invaluable *quicken*ed and *strengthen*ed by honest and informative advertising.

IF your business is worrying you now, if sales and profits are sagging, go back to the beginning in your thinking.

Be sure your product is superior, in style, quality, value or utility; be sure it is distributed within reach of the customer.

This done, tell people about it, in terms of their interest, not yours — tell them over and over again through the advertising pages of THE SATURDAY EVENING POST.

You are then displaying your wares before the most intelligent and progressive audience in America—that hub three-million-strong which turns the taste, thinking, buying of the nation.

IF you think this is merely selfish advice, think again; it is the tried and true formula of outstandingly successful business.

CHIEF GOOGER FUNERAL RITES THIS AFTERNOON

Popular Decatur Official
Dies in Wesley Memorial Hospital.

Marcus D. Googer, for many years chief of the police and fire departments of Decatur, and a leading figure in politics in DeKalb county since 1907, succumbed early Wednesday morning at Wesley Memorial hospital.

CHIEF MARCUS D. GOOGER.

to a complication of ailments resulting from a recent attack of influenza. Death followed determined efforts of physicians to save Mr. Googer's life by means of blood transfusions in which Marcus Googer, Jr., and a member of the Decatur fire department volunteered their blood.

Funeral services will be held from the First Methodist church at 2 o'clock this afternoon, with officials of DeKalb county and Decatur attending. Interment will be in Decatur cemetery.

One of the most widely-known figures in the public life of his community, Chief Googer had lived in Decatur for 32 years, having removed to that city from his home in Crawfordsville in 1899. In 1907 he was elected town marshal and during the same year was elevated to the office of chief of police. From 1916 to 1929 he served as tax collector for DeKalb county, and in 1922 was elected to the dual post of chief of both the police and fire departments. Chief Googer was 58 years old.

Chief Googer was an active member of the First Methodist church, of Decatur, and took an enthusiastic and leading interest in affairs of the Decatur Masonic lodge, of which he was a member.

The city hall at Decatur will be closed today and the entire police force of Decatur will attend the funeral, the county police taking over policing of the city limits during the services. A detachment of firemen also will attend.

Surviving are Mr. Googer's widow, Mrs. Drusha Googer; a son, Marcus Googer, Jr.; two daughters, the Misses Annie and Essie Googer; a sister, Mrs. Robert Veasey, of Crawfordville, and a brother, Charles Googer, of Wyoming, who is now a patient in the sanatorium of the Union Printers' home at Colorado Springs, Col.

FIRE THREATENS SECTION OF N. O.

NEW ORLEANS, March 11.—(AP)—Fire tonight threatened destruction to one of the celebrated Pontalba buildings in the French quarter but was brought under control when almost the entire New Orleans fire department was concentrated in the Vi-Carre (old city) to prevent spread of the flames.

There are two Pontalba buildings, facing on Jackson square with St. Louis cathedral. They were built by the Baroness Pontalba in 1850, and are said to be the first apartment buildings erected in America.

Eight or ten apartments in the center of the lower building, which is a block long, were badly damaged by the fire which originated on the roof. Keepers of the building expressed fear that historic documents in a section of the old building had been damaged.

The buildings are considered among the city's most prized historic structures. A constant mecca for tourists, they are occupied principally by artists, writers and newspaper folk.

ULTIMATE RELEASE OF KIRKLAND SEEN

VALPARAISO, Ind., March 11.—(AP)—Confidence that Virgil Kirkland, convicted last night of murdering Arlene Draves, will ultimately be acquitted, was expressed tonight by Defense Attorney Barratt O'Hara as he set about preparation of an appeal.

O'Hara described the jury finding, which held the girl came to her death by a blow from Kirkland's fist, as a "defense victory upon which we will base the appeal and ask acquittal."

O'Hara also said his office had been informed a witness could be found who would testify that Arlene was struck over the head with a milk bottle at the fatal "flaming youth" party by a girl who was jealous of Kirkland's attention to Miss Draves.

Thirty days are allowed for presentation of a written motion for a new trial.

Judge Grant Crumpacker will pass sentence on Kirkland Monday. A few hours later he probably will be taken to the state prison at Michigan City.

PAPER TO OPPOSE HARVARD CHAPEL

CAMBRIDGE, Mass., March 11.—(AP)—Because it would stand as "a tribute to the poverty of religion at Harvard," the Crimson, undergraduate daily, is to circulate a petition opposing the erection of a $1,000,000 World War memorial chapel in the Harvard yard.

The Crimson which yesterday published a report that work would be started this summer for the chapel said it had learned authoritatively that $500,000 already had been contributed, mostly by alumni, and that room would be made for the edifice by tearing down Appleton chapel.

The paper commented:

"If the function of a memorial is to equal its symbolic significance a new chapel is the last type of edifice to erect on Harvard ground."

"The new chapel may be filled three times a year, notably when the Christmas carol services are held. During the remainder of the year it will stand even more flagrantly than Memorial hall (Civil War memorial) and Appleton now stand, as a tribute to the poverty of religion at Harvard."

Building of an infirmary or an athletic center was suggested instead.

Card Case 'Rescues' Victim From Bandits

CHICAGO, March 11.—(AP)—Samuel Kastel, owner of a drug store, put a card case, filled with cards, in his vest pocket yesterday. Early today one of three robbers who entered the store fired a pistol at the druggist.

The bullet struck the card case and fell harmlessly inside his shirt.

ARKANSAS DELAYS NEW UTILITY TAX

LITTLE ROCK, Ark., March 11.—(AP)—Without a dissenting vote the senate today postponed indefinitely the Thorne house bill to tax electric, gas, telephone and telegraph company receipts to retire school bond indebtedness.

The action amounts to defeat of the measure, which passed the house by a margin of one vote.

Senator Abington, of White county, moved to postpone the bill when it was called up this morning after the committee on public service corporations had reported with a recommendation that it be not passed.

The author of the bill, Representative Thorne, of Poinsett county, had estimated it would yield $1,200,000 a year from a maximum 2 per cent tax on gross receipts of the companies and would be a partial solution of the school debt problem.

Warmer Today With More Cool Days Following

Spring is still around the corner, scared off by cold weather which lingers in the northwest. C. F. von Herrmann, United States meteorologist, said Wednesday.

Today will be fair and warmer, although spring is not with us yet, Mr. von Herrmann said. Until the northwest "shakes" away its cold weather, Atlanta will experience moderately cool temperatures, the weatherman said.

Temperatures today will range between 40 and 60 degrees, Mr. von Herrmann said. The minimum Wednesday morning was 35 degrees.

Fatality Marks Rush Of Women to Gandhi

AHMADABAD, India, March 11.—(AP)—Delirious desire by Ahmabad women to see Mahatma Gandhi today resulted in one of their number being trampled to death, another suffering a fractured skull, five others being seriously injured and 50 fainting.

Every meeting addressed thus far by India's non-violent agitator here has been marked by noisy and disorderly scenes, but that of today was quite the worst for confusion and panic.

While thousands of women were pressing forward to see the Mahatma, fired by enthusiasm and admiration, 30 were swept off their feet and thrown violently into one great heap of terrified, screaming, shapeless humanity.

For a time it appeared all would be smothered in the dust, but in the midst of the stampede Gandhi raised his hand and, as if by magic, the hysterical crowd fell back. This permitted volunteers of the congress party to rescue the hapless 30 from the swirling vortex.

terian church, Mr. Dennis was affiliated with the following fraternal organizations: Pythagoras Lodge No. 41, F. & A. M., of which he was a past master; J. O. U. A. M. and I. O. O. F. Surviving are his widow and a sister, Miss Rosa Cunningham.

TWO WOMEN HELD IN POISON PLOT

LOS ANGELES, March 11.—(AP)—Mrs. Esther Carlson and Mrs. Anna Erickson were held today for action of the superior court on a charge of murder in the alleged poisoning of August Lindstrom, retired lumberman, who died February 9.

The women were bound over by Municipal Judge H. Parker Wood at the conclusion of a preliminary hearing yesterday.

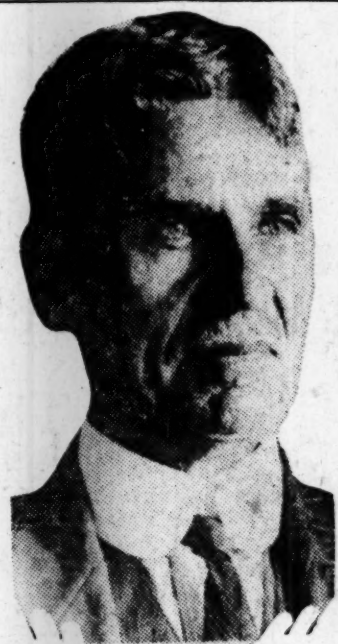

George Stahlman, deputy district attorney, asserted the state had established that Mrs. Carlson, housekeeper at Lindstrom's suburban home, had administered poison so she might obtain his property.

He charged Mrs. Erickson, a neighbor, conspired with Mrs. Carlson in the hope of obtaining money for a payment on her home and to repay funds borrowed from a lodge of which she was treasurer.

The death of Lindstrom first was attributed to heart disease.

THE callous disregard of life and limb by reckless driving... the menace to the safety of his family and himself has stirred the indignation of every conscientious driver and citizen.

Singly and alone he couldn't do very much about it.

But, together we can do something about it!

When you realize that more people were killed last year by automobiles than were lost by the American Forces during the World War and that the number of deaths is growing year by year... then we believe you will want to join in this crusade against recklessness and unsafe equipment.

Only an aroused and militant public opinion can change these conditions. Your help, your example, are needed.

The Silvertown Safety League is your means of expression. Read the pledge... nine common-sense rules... nine commandments of safety. Are you willing to take this pledge along with the prominent people of this community and abide by it? If you are... if enough people will do it... thousands of lives can be saved in 1931.

We have a pledge ready for your signature... we will see that the beautiful emblem of the League is installed on your car and give you a recognition button for your lapel. There is no cost... no obligation to buy... we simply welcome you as another soldier in the war against recklessness.

- 4 To go through intersections only when I have the right of way.
- 5 To observe all traffic signals.
- 6 To give signals myself that can be clearly seen and understood, before turning or stopping in traffic.

- 9 To operate my car on a tire which carries a positive grip on the road—safe traction—and freedom from hazardous tire failures.

Let us install a brilliant chromium emblem of the League on the radiator of your car. It tells the world that you are in the fight against recklessness that took 33,000 lives last year.

ICE PEDDLERS CHARGE
DOUBLE LICENSE TAXMayor Key Pardons Three Negroes Fined $200 Each by Recorder.

Atlanta will be approximately $800 poorer if council Monday approves a recommendation of the tax committee of council affecting about 125 ice peddlers.

On July 1, 1929, the peddlers claimed they paid license which was to have been good until June 30, 1930, but that an ice scoring ordinance was passed by council forcing them to take out licenses again January 1, 1930, for that calendar year. They claimed they were taxed twice from January 1, 1930, to June 30, of that year, and seek a rebate. The annual license is $12 a year, which would make each one entitled to $6.

Mayor James L. Key stated Wednesday he will pardon three negro peddlers of ice, who were sentenced to pay fines of $200 or serve 30 days in the stockade after being convicted in Recorder John L. Cone's court. Under the law, Judge Cone could assess only the $200 fine, the law having been drawn to specifically state that they should be fined not less than $200 on conviction. Councilman John A. White, of the fourth ward, declared he will offer a measure at council's session Monday seeking to have the law read not more than $200. Judge Cone and William B. Bartsfield, attorney for the negroes, sought clemency for them.

Plans for St. Mihiel Offensive Revealed By General Pershing

Reduction of Salient, First Great American Operation of War, Caused Great Excitement at A. E. F. Headquarters.

BY GENERAL JOHN J. PERSHING.

(Copyright, 1931, by The North American Newspaper Alliance—World rights reserved, including the Scandinavian. Reproduction in whole or in part prohibited.) CHAPTER LX.

The final decision that the first American army would undertake the reduction of the St. Mihiel salient as its first operation was transmitted to army headquarters August 10, and the army staff immediately began the development of plans for the concentration of the necessary troops for its execution.

It was certain the psychological effect on the enemy of our success in this first operation by the American army as well as on the Allies, our own troops and our people at home would be of great importance. The attack must, therefore, not only succeed, but a serious hostile reaction must be made impossible.

The headquarters of the first army were removed to Neufchateau between August 11 and 16. The special army troops assembled north of Chateau Thierry were moved eastward during the same period. Neufchateau was a central point for operations on any portion of the front from St. Mihiel to the Swiss frontier. As considerable American activity had been carried on there for many months, its selection would probably keep the enemy in ignorance of the exact sector we were to occupy.

The following corps and divisions were placed at the disposal of the first army for the St. Mihiel operation, and their condition may be summarized as follows:

The first and second divisions were excellent as to training, equipment and morale. They had attacked July 18 in the Soissons drive.

The third, fourth, twenty-sixth and forty-second divisions were of fine morale and considerable experience, as they had fought in the defense about Chateau Thierry and in the advance toward the Vesdre river.

The eighty-ninth and ninth divisions were going through their sector training on the front between the Vesdre and the Moselle rivers, and the fifth and thirty-fifth divisions were taking their sector training in the Vosges.

The thirty-third, seventy-eighth, eightieth and eighty-second divisions had been training in rear of the British front, one brigade of the thirty-third having had front line service with the British, and the ninety-first division had never been in the front line and had received less than four weeks' training in France.

As to corps headquarters, the first corps was well organized and had operated in the Aisne-Marne defensive and offensive. Fourth and fifth corps headquarters were only partially organized and had very few corps troops.

Except for one brigade of corps artillery and three or four air service squadrons, all of the American corps and army troops to be employed were at this time in their preliminary training period in France.

The training of the divisions for the coming operation was directed by Changes were constantly necessary in schedules because of the non-arrival of trucks as planned, usually due to their being used by the French elsewhere.

All ranks of the staff and line of our army were filled with enthusiasm over the coming operation. Officers of the rapidly expanding first army staff worked with the greatest energy under their new responsibilities. The French officers assigned to my headquarters gave material assistance in expediting the arrival of French troops and in handling the civilian population within the zone of the armies.

These officers were deeply interested and the spirit of co-operation between French and Americans in the untiring efforts given to preparation foretold the successful outcome of our first offensive.

During a visit to the 92d division (colored) at this time, it was found that the situation as to training, especially of colored officers, was not entirely satisfactory. This national army division had been in the service since October, 1917, and was composed of units from different parts of the United States. None of the junior officers had received more than superficial training, and most of them were unaccustomed to the management of men. The general officers of the division were not sanguine regarding the possibility of bringing the instruction of their officers up to standard. They had all served with colored regiments of the regular army, and presumably they were in position to judge from practical experience just how much to expect.

In the regular service the officers of colored units were white, and their qualifications were equal to those of officers of like grades throughout the army. But it was well known that the time and attention that must be devoted to training in order to raise the level of efficiency of the colored regiments up to the average was considerably greater than for white regiments. More responsibility, therefore, rested upon officers of colored regiments.

Visits Foch to Discuss Offensive.

In the new army, with hastily trained colored officers relatively below white officers in general ability and in previous preparation, the problem of achieving battle efficiency for colored troops was vastly more difficult. It would have been much wiser at the start to have provided these colored units with selected white officers.

My diary notes the following: Chaumont, Sunday, August 25, 1918. Harbord came up on Friday; reported increasing activity in S. O. S. Have called for 39,000 extra engineers and sent troops for port expansion. Conferred with Colonel Andrews. Major Perkins, Red Cross, has requested service in the army.

Went yesterday for conference with Foch on operations. Franklin Roosevelt, assistant secretary of Navy, called.

General Bliss came today to propose co-operation in urging the 100-division program.

General Bridges, British Army, called to discuss machine gun organization, training and repatriation of lines. Told him that we were not in favor of training with the Allies.

My visit to Marshal Foch August 24 was to discuss preparation for the operations in the St. Mihiel sector; especially to discuss the assignment of the required French auxiliary units.

Opening the conversation, Marshal Foch referred to a letter he had written requesting that the 27th and 30th divisions, which were still with the British, should remain there. He considered it important, he said, to have them ready to assist if necessary in the British operations then in progress.

I replied that not only were these troops needed with our own army but that they were eager to serve under their own flag. Moreover, it had been clearly understood that they should join the American army when it was formed. I think Foch fully appreciated the situation and the sentiment involved, but he said the battle was going well on the British front from Arras to the Oise and he hoped that it would extend further and produce greater results. Therefore he wanted to count on our two divisions to help.

While he did not give any other reason, I thought it probable that he wished, too, to satisfy the insistent demand of the British for their share of American troops. Moreover, it was certain that he would also ask for American divisions to aid the French, and his action in this case would make the latter request appear more consistent.

While I felt that if our divisions should once become engaged in battle as part of another army it would be unlikely they could be withdrawn, yet, under the circumstances, I accepted military emergency as the real reason for the request and assented, with the understanding that these divisions should not remain with the British indefinitely.

I was opposed to the suggestion made by Mr. Lloyd George in a telegram to M. Clemenceau that we should leave a few of our divisions behind the British lines for training, and I felt that compliance with Foch's request for two divisions temporarily was as far as I could go. Our experience with the British had shown that instruction and training were actually retarded, and I considered it detrimental rather than beneficial to leave them there.

As it was likely that further demands would be made on us, I told Foch it should be definitely understood that we would thereafter instruct our troops according to our own methods and use them in our own army. He took the view that Mr. Lloyd George should not complain where our troops were used so long as they were winning victories, a view which, if carried to its logical conclusion, might mean the continued dispersion of our units.

British Fail Us on Tanks.

I wished to be of assistance so far as consistent with the formation of an active, independent American army, and when he asked that two other divisions be held for use where they might be needed, I agreed only after much the same discussion as before and under the condition that such assignment, when it came, would be only temporary.

We then took up the question of tanks, to find, not at all to my surprise, that the British now said they could not spare any more tanks, notwithstanding the understanding at the conference July 24 that they would be able to give us some heavy tanks when we needed them. Foch said the French would let us have five battalions of French tanks, three with French personnel and two to be manned by Americans. I later sent my tank commander, Brigadier General Rockenbach, to confer with the British in an endeavor to obtain an equitable allotment of heavy tanks, but without success.

The shortage in tanks made it necessary to plan for greater artillery or other preparation to overcome obstacles such as barbed wire entanglements and concrete machine gun shelters or pill boxes, as they were called. Steps had already been taken to procure an extra supply of wire cutters, and the interest was such that various other means were improvised by engineers and by the troops themselves to enable them to cross the sea of entanglements on the St. Mihiel front.

Tomorrow: "No peace until Germany is completely crushed," says Pershing.

BRITISH CENSUS SHOWS INCREASE

LONDON, March 11.—(AP)—Figures of the English registrar general published today revealed the population of England and Wales as increasing faster than ever.

Last year had the lowest death rate on record in the two countries and the increase in population by excess of births over deaths was 194,033. It was the decrease in the death rate rather than an increase in the birth rate which made for increase in population, the birth rate being the same as in 1929, 19.3 per thousand, which was the lowest ever recorded.

The death rate was 11.4, or two below 1929, and 2 below 1923 and 1925, which represented the previous lowest figures. The infant mortality rate was 60 per thousand, also the lowest figure ever recorded.

A merchandising plan ...worth investigating

A representative will call to explain how you can use this merchandising plan to increase sales. Call the Telephone Business Office

The Classified Telephone Directory is planned so that the name, address and telephone number of any type of business may be listed where it can be easily found by anyone seeking any particular product or service offered by a concern.

Business firms may provide additional information for the convenience and guidance of the buying public by adding some descriptive matter to their listings, explaining in detail the products or services they offer.

A firm in the lumber business, for example, may be represented under different classifications, such as "Lumber," "Millwork," "Roofing Material," "Screens" and others. In this way a firm makes itself more accessible to receive the business of anyone desiring a particular commodity or service at the time the prospective customer is in a buying mood.

The Classified Telephone Directory is revised and corrected at proper intervals, resulting in the information being kept up to date.

Telephone Directories can be used to cover trade areas of any size within a state, a section of the country or the entire nation, proving to be invaluable for directing the prospective purchaser to the local dealer in any commodity or service.

WHAT IS A BANK?

NUMBER FIVE OF A SERIES

"LOST" REVENUE

... that returns many times over

WE have said, "A bank is a business organized to take care of your money."

Part of the job is to keep that money moving, circulating. And from an economic standpoint, this part is most important, because stagnant money means stagnant business.

For this part of its work, the bank is paid by those who borrow the money. It is not paid by those who own the money.

Hence if commercial instinct ruled bank operation we would naturally make every effort to keep your money "rented" constantly, regardless.

But our first duty is "to take care of your money." And caution in making loans is the cardinal principle, the basic rule by which we must proceed.

When we must turn down a loan, it is with regret because it means losing actual income for the bank... but that regret is far over-balanced by the knowledge of the security, the dependability, the safety of the institution we are building by wisely choosing only such borrowers as can pay back your money on the specified date.

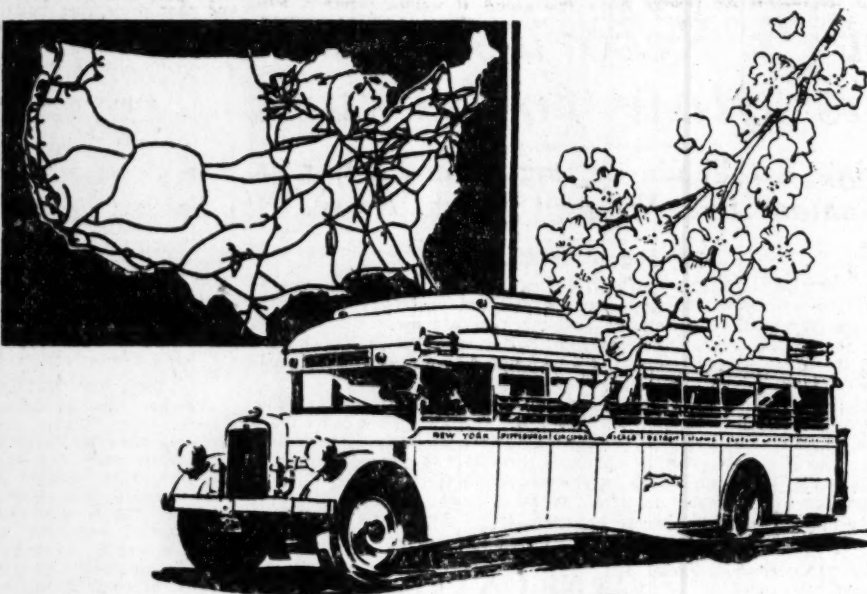

The increased business that comes with confidence far overshadows any revenue that may be "lost" through being careful of your money.

C & S National is a big bank, constantly growing, because we have taken the most scrupulous care of other people's money since 1887.

Athletics Show Signs of Wear But Six Stars Are Still O. K.

MACK CONTENT TO STAND PAT ON OLD LINEUP

Veterans Have Capable Reserves To Fill in During Emergencies.

By Alan Gould.

FORT MYERS, Fla., March 11.—(AP)—Age has begun to creep into the joints of the Athletics. The machine that has steam-rolled its major league baseball opposition for two straight seasons shows some signs of wear and tear but for fear this be taken as a tendency to "view with alarm," let it be said here and now that the six main reasons for the rumpship of the Philadelphia remain sound in body and spirit.

THEY'LL BE THERE.
In the absence of some of these vital cogs, such as Simmons and Earnshaw, who are training at Hot Springs and to relieve some of the others, ambitious youngsters have been coveting in the light blue of the A's. They may as well covet to their heart's content now, for when the race starts next month, Mr. Mack will send out to the uncured the same lineup that finished the 1929 world's series triumphant, except that Grove may be on the mound instead of Earnshaw.

Aged though some of his other athletes may be, Mack's stars retain the spryness of youth. He is content to stand pat for 1931 and the bid to make it three successive pennants. Indeed, there is no reason for him to plan otherwise. Joe Boley's arm has come along slowly in spring training and Max Bishop has been laid up temporarily with a leg bruise, caused by a ball thrown from the outfield. The veteran keystone pair, however, figure to start, although Dibs Williams at short and Frank Higgins, Texas boy, at second base have been given plenty of chance to develop. Higgins particularly shows promise, both in the field and at bat.

Slice 3 Years Ago Costs Firm $8,500

CHICAGO, March 11.—(AP)—Joe Kirkwood, noted golf star, sliced a drive three years ago and Marshall Field & Company got an $8,500 bill for it today. J. L. Francis was watching the golf professional exhibit his swing at Field's men's store in June, 1928, when a drive sliced into the net, which blew out. The ball struck Francis in the right eye, causing the loss of his sight. The appellate court upheld judgment of $8,500 for Francis today.

THE INFELD.
The infield is well fortified elsewhere in reserves, with Phil Todd, late of the Red Sox, to sub for Fox; Jimmy Dykes at third; Dykes, at 34, is one of the oldest of the A's in point of major league service. This is his 14th season but Jimmy still dresses, acts and chatters like a collegian.

"They are working us old fellows pretty hard," Dykes remarked to Bill Miller, the veteran outfielder, but I guess we can still stand the pace, if the old legs don't give out. Miller, Simmons and George Haas form the outer patrol. They leave little to be desired unless it is more pun on the latter's part.

Behind the bat, Cochrane's probable relief man, on the rare occasions when one is needed, will be John Heving, obtained from the Red Sox on waivers. VALBERG IN FORM.
George (Swede) Valberg gives every indication of a return to form, in which case Mack's staff may be expanded to a "big three." Roy Mahaffey, the big right-hander who came through handsomely in his first big league season, is counted on for a regular turn. Among the rookies, 19-year-old Hank McDonald, "Grove likes lots of work," said Mr. Mack, "probably we can find it for him."

Tennessee Club Gets Meet for First Time Since 1920.

For the first time since Bobby Jones won the 1920 event, the annual Southern Amateur Golf Association tournament will be held in Chattanooga, Tenn., next June.

Lowry Arnold, president of the Southern association, announced the site of the tournament yesterday following a vote of the association directors on the several invitations received.

The 1930 event, won by Emmett Spicer, of Memphis, Tenn., was held at the Sedgwick Country Club in Greensboro, N. C. Spicer is expected to defend his title.

The 1931 meet will mark the third time since the association inaugurated its annual tournament in 1902 that a championship has been held in Chattanooga. The first was held in 1912 when two New Orleans players, W. C. Stewart and Nelson Whitney, entered the finals, with Stewart winning. Up Jones won the 1920 event by trouncing Ewing Watkins, of Chattanooga, 10 and 9.

The exact dates of the tournament have not been announced but it probably will start Tuesday of the third week in June and continue through Saturday. The Chattanooga Country Club will be the host club.

Arnold said seven cities issued invitations for the meet, Birmingham, however, withdrew in favor of Chattanooga when it learned that the latter club had invited the golfers. Twice before in the past two years Chattanooga withdrew its bid, in 1929 when Nashville wished to hold the meet there in honor of the late Colonel Horace C. Smith, president of the association, and last year after the Tennessee state meet had been awarded to Chattanooga.

The other cities contesting for the championship event were Albany, Ga.; Nashville and Memphis, Tenn.; Tulsa, Okla., and Miami, Fla.

Training Camp News
INDIANS ROUT PELS.
NEW ORLEANS, March 11.—(AP)—The Cleveland Americans continued to show their batting punch in winning their third straight training game from New Orleans Southern association team, today, 16 to 5. Joe Vosmik, sandlot aspirant for left field, made his eighth hit in ten times at bat, a triple.

GABBY'S TASK EASY.
BRADENTON, Fla., March 11.—(AP)—With only 28 men on his roster and the rules calling for clubs to get within the player limit of 25 on June 1, it appears that his task of cutting this squad to its proper size is going to be easy for Manager Gabby Street, of the Cardinals. The champions' manager has already stated he wants to keep 10 of the 11 pitchers on the squad, which means probably that two of the eight outfielders will be sent away.

ROBINS NOSE REDS.
CLEARWATER, Fla., March 11.—(AP)—Coming from behind with a five-run attack in the eighth inning, the Brooklyn Robins won a 6-to-5 decision over the Cincinnati Reds in the second exhibition game of their spring series today.

For five innings Owen Carroll and Benny Frey held the Robins at bay with only one run but in the eighth John Ogden went to the mound. He failed to survive the inning, being replaced by Johnson. Before the latter could retire the side, the Robins had bunched three hits, including a home run by Boone, and four base on balls to score their five runs.

Five double plays pulled the Cincinnati pitchers out of several holes while Heath and Cucchiello contributed home runs to lead the offensive. Score by innings:
Cincinnati 2 0 0 1 0 5-12 6
Brooklyn 0 0 0 0 0 5-11 4
Carroll, Frey, Ogden, Johnson and Styles; Day, W. Moore, Mattingly and Lombardi.

YANKS IN SPREE.
ST. PETERSBURG, Fla., March 11.—(AP)—The New York Yankees went on a late scoring spree to defeat the Boston Braves, 17 to 9, today. The victory gave the Yanks the lead of two games to one in the spring series. The American leaguers counted nine times in the final frame. Score by innings:
New York (A) 0 0 0 1 0 3-18 2
Boston (N) 9 0 0 0 0 9-14 8
Allen, McEwen, Rhodes, Gomez and Karlen; Jorgens; Sherdel, Frankhouse, Cantwell, Gans and Spindler.

OTT LEADS GIANTS.
AUSTIN, Texas, March 11.—(AP)—Led by Mel Ott, the New York Giants pounded out a 14-to-4 triumph over the University of Texas today. Ott had a perfect day at the bat, getting two home runs, a double and three base on balls in six trips to the plate. Th. Giants started Schumacher, a rookie from Milligan College, on the mound and finished with Bill Hubbell and Carl Hubbell.

MOBILE BEATES.
MOBILE, Ala., March 11.—(AP)—The champion Louisville American association team won their first exhibition game of the spring season today from the Mobile Southern association club, 4 to 1. Herman, second baseman of the Colonels, led his team at bat, while Daugherty was the leading hitter for the Marines. The Colonels used two hurlers, Marcum and Browne, while the Marines paraded three hurlers, Bennett, Campbell and Lewis, all youngsters. Score by innings:
Louisville (AA) 4 0 0 0 0 4-9 3
Mobile (SA) 0 0 0 0 0 1-4 0
Marcum, Browne and Erickson; Bennett, Campbell, Lewis and Poad, Sullivan.

NATS GROOM BOLTON.
BILLOXI, Miss., March 11.—(AP)—Cliff Bolton, heavy-hitting recruit from High Point, N. C., is to get the first of a number of searching tests of his catching ability when the Senators open their exhibition schedule against the Baltimore Orioles here tomorrow. Because of the youngster's hitting skill every effort will be made to bolster his work behind the bat sufficiently to justify making him a regular member of the catching staff.

THE SPORTLIGHT

Pennant Odds.

A YEAR AGO this date the Athletics were made 6-to-1 favorites in the American league by the professional layers, these odds offered on this one team against the field. For the new campaign, now only a month away, the same layers have placed the Athletics on a 7-to-10 basis, which means that if you want to back Mr. Mack's battalion you must put up $10 to win $7. Which indicates what those who have money to risk think of the pitching and the punch which this team still carries.

This is a slight change in odds for a team that has already won two pennants, for after a run of this length something usually begins to creak and buckle up. In late years it has been a hard job to pick off three in a row. The Yanks came along with that kind of a machine, but on a general average such teams as the old Cubs, the Athletics of 1910-1914 and the Giants of 10 years ago are becoming rarities.

The odds which rank the Cardinals, Cubs and Dodgers on fairly even terms are about right. The breaks of the game, accidents and injuries especially, will play a big part in this National league race.

Borotra Again.
BOROTRA's play in the indoor championships will be closely watched. He will be the second in command, second on guard, when the Davis Cup matches are played this summer and with Brugnon now doubtful, the Basque veteran will have to carry a double load. The whole show will be up to Cochet and Borotra.

If he has slipped just a little bit there will be two young American stars ready to nail him. This would break the issue into the doubles.

Borotra is one of the indoor stars. He has won enough indoor championships to stock a tennis arena. On this occasion when he finds himself asked to stop in Frank Shields who still has the makings of one of the best tennis players the court game has ever known.

In regard to the argument between Bill Terry and the Giants the situation has always amounted to this—Bill Terry isn't going anywhere without the Giants and the Giants are not going anywhere without Bill Terry.

No ball club has yet made a ball player makes himself. The ball player makes himself. The ball player tells the story and has to keep the printed record above the average to get anywhere.

There has never been in any sport a more complete exposure of an athlete's performance as baseball carries in its box score. Here is every time at bat, every hit and run. Also every error, every strike out.

How many in other lines of work would like to have every error they make every day set down in cold type for the millions to read? The ball player who gets anywhere has to earn it.

Excitement in the Far West.
STANFORD, California or the University of Southern California have been mopping up in the "western track and field tests for the better part of 10 years. In fact they have lost but once in about 10 years to an eastern team. One of the three has usually been a dead set-up to win.

Now conditions are different. Lawson Robertson has a Pennsylvania track and field team that will give any one a battle. The Red and Blue will be ready on this next occasion to meet the best of the far west on even terms. Penn's showing has stirred up track and field interest to large degree along the Pacific coast, especially with the Olympic games drawing nearer.

New Golf Leagues Are Planned Here
Organization of two or possibly three golf leagues will be completed within the next few weeks, it was learned Wednesday.

Members of the North Georgia league, composed of Rome, Marietta, West End, Ansley Park, Inglewood and Forrest Hills, are slated to elect new officers and begin preparations for the season at an early date.

Formation of a league to consist of teams from the four municipal courses together with Black Rock and Sweetwater, is proposed by Howard Land, head of Sweetwater club. The Atlanta teams will include Candler Park, Piedmont Park, John A. White and James L. Key courses. Ben Griffin, secretary and treasurer of the North Georgia league, is co-operating with Land in the formation of the new league.

A citywide league to consist of teams from the four 18-hole courses, the four nine-hole courses and the four municipal courses is being planned but no definite action has been taken.

'UP' REGARDED AS REAL THREAT FOR 'THE DERBY'

Makes Impressive Record in Eleven Starts on Mexican Tracks.

By Thomas H. Noone.

NEW YORK, March 11.—(UP)—When J. N. Crofton, guiding spirit of the Agua Caliente race track, purchased Up from Admiral Cary T. Grayson for $15,000 to carry his wife's silks in the juvenile stakes and later the Kentucky Derby, he struck a fine bargain.

A chestnut colt by High Cloud and Idleness, Up has been in training continuously since his debut last spring. He has had the most strenuous campaign of any three-year-old derby nominee and has chalked up an impressive record prior to his acquisition by the Agua Caliente track, purchasing the Mexican course since January 1.

In his entire juvenile year Up started but 11 times. Four of these of which he placed in three of the western sportsman. He won his second start in the Crofton silks in defeating Happy Scot a nose in the spring juvenile stakes at Pimlico, and placed second in three other Maryland stakes during the spring.

As a juvenile Up was never asked to travel a route, but in his winter campaign as a three-year-old the High Cloud colt has amply demonstrated that he is a stayer. He has been meeting all comers at Agua Caliente and has finished unplaced but twice. He has won five races and been second and third twice each.

The latest and by far the greatest achievement of Up was his Agua Caliente derby victory at a mile and a sixteenth on March 8. On this occasion he was followed home by Seth's Hope, Uncle Henry and several other good ones. The last named of these is also a Kentucky derby nominee. First prize money in this event swelled his purse to $15,450, which added to his juvenile winnings of $12,285 further augments the fact that Crofton made a shrewd purchase when he bought this colt.

Marquard is still active. He pitched last season for Jacksonville, winning eight games. He was manager, going in the box when it became apparent that his staff wasn't going anywhere in a very great hurry. He thinks that Johnny Carithers is the best young pitching prospect in the Cracker camp of those who have had no previous professional experience.

South Carolina Senate Debates 'Heavy' Ranking

COLUMBIA, S. C., March 11.—(AP)—Max Schmeling's place in the fist world and that of W. L. (Young) Stribling, his challenger for the heavyweight title, was debated in the South Carolina senate today.

An exchange developed during debate on a bill which would legalize boxing in South Carolina, now barred by the blue laws. Senator Hodges, of Greenwood, opposing the bill, termed Schmeling a "half-rater," and Stribling a "clinging vine." Other senators defended them.

Senator Young, of Union, asserted football as well as boxing should be barred. From Senator Hammond, of Richland, came the opinion that legalization of boxing would be a "cultural move." The bill was passed, 20 to 15. It had already passed the house but must go back there for action on senate amendments.

BAN JOHNSON GIVEN CHANCE IN LIFE FIGHT

Amputation of Infected Leg Favored by Doctors To Aid Patient.

ST. LOUIS, March 11.—(AP)—A slight gain of strength was noted today in the condition of Ban Johnson, former American league president, who is critically ill of diabetes here.

His physician, Dr. Robert Hyland, said there would be a "fighting chance" for his recovery if an infected leg were amputated, although Johnson's weak condition and an aversion to such an operation has prevented it so far. Attaches of St. John's hospital here where Johnson is a patient, said they have rarely seen such stamina as is shown by the former baseball leader in the face of disease.

Muscular-Rheumatic Aches and Pains

DRAW them out with a "counter-irritant." Distressing muscular lumbago, soreness and stiffness—generally respond pleasantly to good old Musterole. Doctors call it a "counter-irritant," because it gets action and is not just a salve. Musterole helps bring soreness and pain to the surface, and thus gives natural relief. You can feel how its warming action penetrates and stimulates blood circulation. But do not stop with one application. Apply this soothing, cooling, healing ointment generously to the affected area once every hour for five hours. Used by millions for over 20 years. Recommended by many doctors and nurses.

Keep Musterole handy; jars and tubes. To Mothers—Musterole is also made in milder form for babies and small children. Ask for Children's Musterole.

Veto of Bonus Aided Hoover, Dill Asserts

SPOKANE, Wash., March 11.—(AP)—Senator C. C. Dill, democrat, returning home after the end of the congressional session, said today President Hoover had gained a million votes by his veto of the soldiers' bonus bill.

"If the bill had not been passed over his veto he would have lost votes," the senator said, "but with the bill passing anyhow, any resulting displeasure of former service men is assuaged and others are praising the president for his courage and the care for the nation's finances, which they believe impelled his veto."

Bushman Offers To Wed Woman Paying Highest

CHICAGO, March 11.—(UP)—Francis X. Bushman, movie Adonis, offered himself in marriage tonight to any woman who can support him in the style to which he has been accustomed.

"I think I'm the first movie actor in history to admit that he's failed," Bushman told the United Press, "and to admit that I'm in search of a wealthy wife."

Bushman a few years ago was one of America's most popular movie stars with a Hollywood mansion, a country estate and strings of race horses. He said he had earned between six and nine million dollars during his long film career.

He's still a matinee idol, but at the Little Reddie stock theater on Chicago's west side. If it weren't for his current salary he'd be broke.

"Right now I'm for sale to the woman who will pay the most to marry me," said Bushman. "The only stipulation I make is that she have enough money to support me in the style to which I have been accustomed."

Retirement from the practice of medicine in Georgia of a number of physicians who have been convicted in federal and state courts of illegal practices and who have served sentences imposed by the courts was the object of a special meeting held at the state capitol Wednesday of the Georgia state board of medical examiners. It was learned from Dr. Thomas J. McArthur, of Cordele, president, and Dr. B. T. Wise, of Americus, secretary.

Names of the physicians whose cases were before the special board meeting were not divulged by the officials, but it was said that most of the offenses were violations of the federal narcotic laws. All cases cited were contained under the next meeting of the board, with no action taken.

The board will convene for its regular meeting on June 10-11-12 in Atlanta.

SPANISH PRISONERS FAIL TO ESCAPE JAIL

Plans To Establish Republic March 22 Is Also Revealed.

PARIS, March 11.—(AP)—Reports of a movement for an autonomous democracy in the Spanish province of Catalonia and of an attempted jail delivery at Jaca, near the French frontier, were received today by the Havas News Agency.

Jaca, which is near the French frontier, was the scene of an abortive revolt in December and a number of revolutionaries have been imprisoned in the citadel awaiting trial, scheduled to begin tomorrow.

Twenty outsiders attempted to release the prisoners and burn documents to be used as evidence at the trial, but their efforts were foiled and all were arrested.

The Havas Agency's report concerning Catalonia was from Barcelona. It said a Catalonian group had issued a manifesto revealing plans to begin a definite movement for a republic entirely separate from the rest of Spain.

World Hiker Studies Religion and Women

A wandering troubadour, who has sung his way through 34 countries and around the world, arrived in Atlanta Wednesday in the person of William Wolf, of Los Angeles, veteran of the Eighty-second division and of overseas service, who set out from California in 1925 with one suit, a knapsack and no money, to "study religion and women." During the last five and a half years, Wolf said, he has walked, hitch hiked and vagabonded his way some 100,000 miles.

Wolf gave it as his expert opinion that Russian women refugeeing in Shanghai are the most beautiful, but conceded that American women are "the best dressed and most independent." He says that in each of the 34 countries, his rendition of Berlin's "Always" seemed to hold the women in the audience enraptured. He will remain in Atlanta a week, on his way from Mexico to New York.

for home rule and even went before the League of Nations once with petitions insisting on their historical rights to autonomy. French observers believed tonight, however, that the March 22 date would mark the inauguration of a well-organized movement for autonomy within the Spanish republic rather than for a republic entirely separate from the rest of Spain.

BUTLER TO SEEK G. O. P. WET STAND

PASADENA, Cal., March 11.—(AP)—Dr. Nicholas Murray Butler, president of Columbia University, said today he would bring up the prohibition issue in the republican party for the presidential election of 1932.

"And there will be many others with me," he said. "The 18th amendment must be repealed and the police power returned to the states."

Dr. Butler, who is here on a short vacation, also voiced his opinion on national finances.

"The United States must stop living on its capital," he said, "and buckle down to living on its income, like other countries."

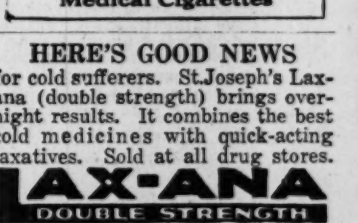

PLANES AID RACES OF LIFE AND DEATH
Airplanes Wednesday played important parts in affairs involving life and death. One plane landed at Candler field from Florida with W. D. Ferris, of 133 King's highway, Decatur, victim of an acute attack of illness. Mr. Ferris, steamship company representative, was stricken near Jacksonville and was rushed to the airport in that city to board a plane for Atlanta. He arrived here three hours afterward and was operated on at a private hospital.

Racing against time, Candler Coachman, of St. Louis, former student at Georgia Tech, wired ahead to Candler field to hold up the Tampa-Miami plane for 15 minutes until he could reach the airport from the train which was to arrive in Atlanta six minutes after the plane was scheduled to start. Coachman was on his way to Clearwater, Fla., to attend the funeral of his father. An escort of motorcycle policemen cleared traffic in the race of the former Tech student, and he reached Candler field in 9 minutes, boarded the waiting plane and sped southward.

D. A. R. CHAPTERS ANNOUNCE MEETINGS FOR SATURDAY

Portrait of Mrs. Pratt To Be Presented Habersham

Mrs. Hooper Bennett, Mrs. D. W. Matthews and Logan Pratt, children of the late Mrs. George Lewis Pratt, prominent and beloved Atlantian, will present to the Joseph Habersham chapter, Daughters of the American Revolution, a beautiful oil portrait of their mother, former regent of this organization, at the meeting to be held next Saturday afternoon at the chapter house on Fifteenth street. The painting will be hung in the chapter house, Habersham Hall, with those of others who have served as regents of this patriotic society. During her lifetime Mrs. Pratt was one of the most influential members of the Daughters of the American Revolution, giving freely of her time and influence to the wide scope of D. A. R. activities. As head of the Joseph Habersham chapter she became a prominent leader in patriotic circles, serving also as an officer in the Atlanta chapter, United Daughters of Confederacy. Mrs. Pratt was also a beloved figure in church realms, being a faithful member of All Saints' Episcopal and at all times she was ready to lend a helping hand in the charitable activities fostered by this well-known church. Before her marriage Mrs. Pratt was Miss Margaret Logan, of New Orleans, a representative of a distinguished and aristocratic southern family. She was a reigning belle in New Orleans society and numbered among the social leaders of that city. Her popularity continued as an Atlanta matron and at the time of her death she was mourned by countless friends and admirers.

Mrs. Colcord President. Mrs. H. C. Colcord, regent of the Habersham chapter, will preside at the meeting Saturday. Included in the regular order of business will be a paper read by Miss Marianne McClelland, historian, of current events on international relations. Musical numbers and the reading of an address on George Washington and Thomas Jefferson will also feature the program. Atlanta Chapter D. A. R. To Present Medals.

Atlanta chapter D. A. R. meets at Craigie house, Saturday afternoon, March 14, at 3 o'clock, with the regent, Mrs. E. A. Thomas, presiding. Mrs. J. W. To End a Cough In a Hurry, Mix This at Home

To end a stubborn cough quickly, it is important to soothe and heal the inflamed membranes, get rid of the germs and also to aid the system inwardly to help throw off the trouble. Pinex is a home-made medicine, far better than anything you could buy at 3 times the cost. From any drugist, get 2½ ounces of Pinex. Pour this into a pint bottle, and add plain granulated sugar syrup or strained honey to fill up the pint. This takes but a moment, and makes a remedy so effective that you will never do without, once you have used it. Keeps perfectly, and children like it.

This simple remedy does three necessary things. First, it loosens the germs and phlegm. Second, it soothes away the inflammation. Third, it is absorbed into the blood, where it acts directly on the bronchial tubes. This explains why it brings such quick relief, even in the obstinate bronchial coughs which follow cold epidemics. Pinex is a highly concentrated compound of genuine Norway Pine, containing the active agent of cressote, in a refined, palatable form, and is known as one of the greatest healing agents for severe coughs, chest colds and bronchial troubles. Do not accept a substitute for Pinex. It is guaranteed to give prompt relief or money refunded. —(adv.)

Ga. Mother's Lucky Find

WHEN we find that some slight adjustment makes a marvelous improvement in a child we wonder why we hadn't thought before to give the child this help.

A good example is the experience of Mrs. J. R. Pope, 621 Kalb Street, Atlanta. She says: "My little girl was doing fairly well but I noticed she didn't eat like she should and didn't seem to have much energy."

"I wanted to do something for her, and my mother always used California Fig Syrup, so I gave her some. Evelyn improved so much I wonder why I didn't do something for her stomach and bowels before. It relieved her sluggishness, gave her a good appetite and plenty of energy."

To point up a child's appetite, increase energy and strength, assist digestion and assimilation, there's nothing more effective than pure vegetable California Fig Syrup. Doctors advise its use to open the bowels during colds and children's diseases, or whenever bad breath, coated tongue, headachiness, listlessness, etc., warn of constipation.

The genuine always bears the name California. So look for that when buying. At all drugstores.

PAINFUL INDIGESTION

"I find Black-Draught gives relief for stomach trouble, caused by constipation," writes Mrs. Mahalia Atkins, of Ironton, Ohio. I found that taking a few doses of Black-Draught would ease this feeling to pass away. I have used Black-Draught for years, and I can say that it is the medicine for me."

Between-meal fatigue is a signal to eat something sweet

Thousands of workers and shoppers overcome fatigue in mid-afternoon by eating a food or drinking a beverage with sugar in it.

It is unwise to endure fatigue. For fatigue may develop into exhaustion, and when the system is in that state, it has virtually no resistance. Colds and other common ills are inevitable.

It is a good idea when you feel fatigued, to stop a moment and eat or drink something sweet. Such foods or beverages are quickly digested—the body is nourished, and the energy in the sugar is ready at once to re-new vigor.

Appropriate sweet snacks can be had in soda fountain beverages, ice cream, candy and small cakes. For children coming home from school, sweetened and flavored milk shakes, also bread and butter sprinkled with sugar are recommended. Most foods are more delicious and nourishing with sugar. WHEN you pay high prices for face powder, much of the cost goes into the fancy box and label. The powder itself can have only two essential qualities—purity of ingredients and beauty-giving power!

It is extravagant to pay high prices when you can get Plough's "Favorite Bouquet" so inexpensively. And this powder is as fine and pure . . . as smoothly clinging . . . as beautifying a face powder as any price can buy. For purity and effectiveness are the very qualities that have built up the popularity of Plough's "Favorite Bouquet" Face Powder among the smartest women. Be sure to ask for the square-shaped red box of Plough's "Favorite Bouquet"—the largest selling face powder in the world for 25c.

FRIENDLY COUNSEL

BY CAROLINE CHATFIELD.

Keep Out of Other People's Marital Difficulties Unless You Are Summoned by Both Parties to Help Straighten Them Out—A Chaperon Is a Buried Offering to the Gods of Gossip.

DEAR MISS CHATFIELD: I have a very dear friend who was married and moved to a distant city some ten years ago. Her husband is devoted to her but is one of these jealous natures that is not satisfied with anything less than all of her time and affection and interest. He has been irreproachable as far as conduct is concerned, but she has had no liberty and has come to be resentful toward him. A few years ago she wrote me very frankly describing the state of affairs and asked me to come and pay her a visit and see for myself that something had to be done. I went and, after seeing how things were, I decided to talk frankly to her husband and tell him that in his greediness to possess his wife's mind, body and soul, he was going to lose her. He didn't seem to resent my interference but was exceedingly kind and apparently sympathetic with me in my desire to help them both. Soon after that time I returned home and have not seen them since. Now my friend is writing, asking me to spend the winter with her, and I know that means she is being smothered and wants to get air through me. What do you think my duty is in the matter? Should I go to my friend who needs me and who is begging me to come to her, or should I stay away on the ground that her husband may not be so keen to have me after I have expressed myself to him about his slenderness? I know he wouldn't openly resent my going, nor would he be enthusiastic about it as she is. The visit would necessarily be a long one as I cannot afford to go for a short time.

ANSWER: There is an old proverb which says "He that passeth by, and meddles with strife, belonging not to him, is like one that taketh a dog by the ears." You were extremely lucky not to get your hand bitten the first time; you could not expect to be so lucky a second time.

If the husband is jealous, your presence would only intensify the feeling. If there had been any good to come out of your frank discussion of his failure, it would have come about before this. And if the first attempt failed, there is no hope for the second. After all, no matter how unreasonable a man may be with his wife, it is not the prerogative of a friend to tell him about it. The average husband would heartily resent such an intrusion. It is futile, too, because if the wife cannot show him her error, if she cannot put the soft pedal on his vices and the loud pedal on his virtues, she cannot make sweet music with the help of all the talents her friends may possess.

There are some situations too delicate for outside interference, and I should not like to suppose this man has what we call a "big sister" used to refer to a complex. A young man just out of a big university tells me the theory about taking a pet complex away from a person: "It is now considered quite a hopeless psychiatric pastime for as soon as the person finds his complex gone, he sets about to get himself another. The quirk in his brain demands a complex and as long as he lives he will have one." I say it serves the meddler right.

For the sake of the argument grant that your presence in the home would relieve the pressure temporarily. It can, at best, be only temporary relief; and the chances are that when you leave the same pressure or another equally hard to endure will be applied.

Keep out of other people's marital difficulties unless you are summoned by both parties to help straighten them out.

If You are Over-Fat Take 2 Grains Gland Food Daily Until Slenderness Returns

That is the method modern science has discovered. It is used by doctors the world over. It has changed the whole aspect of obesity. Very many of the slender figures that you envy are due to this new-day help. Single physicians by its use, are making thousands thin.

The reason is this: A great cause of excess fat has been found to lie in a weakened gland. Its secretion largely controls nutrition. A scant secretion permits too much of our food to form fat. So modern doctors feed that lacking factor until conditions are set right.

Marmola's prescription tablets embody the gland factor. A world-famous medical laboratory prepares them to fit the average case. Each box contains the formula and the reasons for results. So all may use this modern treatment at very little cost.

Marmola has been used for 24 years—millions of boxes of it. All can everywhere see the enormous good it has done. Most folks have friends who can attest them. What folly then to starve or overdo. What folly to use treatments harmful or absurd. And what folly to carry an over-burden of fat—a blight to beauty, health and vim.

Don't wait longer while so many gain the joys of being slender. All druggists supply Marmola at $1. Go get it now, read the book to know what you are taking and why. Then tell the facts to others, as we tell you.

MAKING THE BEST OF THINGS

BY THORNTON W. BURGESS
When things go wrong it is a test. So of conditions make the best.

—Redshoulder the Hawk.

If ever two persons were badly upset those two were Redshoulder the Hawk and Mrs. Redshoulder. Perhaps you can imagine how they felt. Just suppose that you had been away from home for a long time until at last you were homesick and then had returned to find your home occupied by fierce strangers, who refused to move out and whom you could not put out. That is how the Redshoulders felt when they returned to the Green Forest and found their nest, the one they had built and used for years, occupied by the family of Hoity the Great Horned Owl.

First they had been filled with great anger. They had circled above and swooped down on that nest as if they intended to throw those young Owls out. But Hoity and Mrs. Hoity, on guard, glared at them with such savage-looking eyes, and hissed and snapped their bills so threateningly, that they did not dare attack. It was well they didn't, for they would have been no match for the strongest and most savage feathered folk in all the Green Forest.

"It is of no use," said Redshoulder, disconsolately, as they rested in a tall tree some distance from the old nest. "Those robbers have got our home and they will keep it. We can't put them out if we try the rest of the spring. I'm no coward, but I know when I meet some one who is too much for me."

"I don't feel like doing anything," replied Mrs. Redshoulder. "but of course we must do something. We have got to build a new home somewhere."

Redshoulder nodded. "We can always do that," he agreed. "It isn't as if we couldn't have a home. It may make us a little later than we expected in raising a family, but fortunately we have come back early and there is plenty of time. Shall we go over to the Great Mountain and look for a place to build, or shall we go a long way off and start in new surroundings?"

Mrs. Redshoulder shook herself and settled her feathers. "We'll do neither," said she decidedly. "They have taken our nest, but they can't drive us from home and the Green Forest here is really our home after all. We don't want those robbers for neighbors so we'll look for the best tree in another part of the Green Forest and build a new nest. It really could be worse, you know. I guess there is nothing so bad that it couldn't be worse. I'm hungry. Let's go hunting for dinner and tomorrow we'll go hunting for a place to build."

So Redshoulder and Mrs. Redshoulder spread their big wings and went sailing out over the Green Meadows to look for Danny Meadow Mouse or some of his relatives.

The next story: "Redshoulder Gives Way."

BUY coffee by taste

GET a pound of White House Thermo-fresh Coffee and taste the difference. That deeper, mellower, fresher taste is due to 60% more flavor . . . flavor saved for you by the Thermo-fresh tin. And because you needn't use as much coffee per cup as you do now, White House Thermo-fresh Coffee will cost you less. Your grocer has it.

WHITE HOUSE Thermo-fresh COFFEE

ON GREENS

When the salad is served between the main course and the dessert, it should be appetizing, light and tart. It should not be too heavy. The fresh simple flavors of greens are most appropriate. Lettuce, endive, cucumbers; or cold vegetables, such as asparagus, Brussels sprouts or string-beans. These salads suggest a tart, stimulating dressing . . . Bachelor Club Dressing, Vinaigrette Dressing, or French Dressing.

To make French Dressing: Six tablespoons of Wesson Oil, one teaspoon of salt, one-fourth teaspoon of pepper, two tablespoons of lemon juice, a dash of paprika, and season to your taste.

ON FRUITS

Fruits, fresh or canned, have a more pronounced flavor than the simple greens. They call for a dressing less sharp, with perhaps a dash of sweetness or the tang of cheese, to encourage them to give us back their sunshine and full fresh flavor.

The next time you have a fruit salad, try this Cheese Dressing: Cream a three-ounce package of cream cheese with two tablespoons of Wesson Oil. Blend teaspoon of salt, one-fourth teaspoon each of white pepper and granulated sugar, two tablespoons Wesson Oil and two of lemon juice. Beat into the cheese until it becomes light and fluffy. Then dust with paprika.

FOR SEAFOOD

When salad is the main dish at a meal, as at luncheon let us say, and boasts the full flavor of lobster, crabmeat, or shrimp, the finished salad should be garnished with Lemonaise or Tartar Sauce, but the fish should first have been marinated.

To marinate: Mix six tablespoons Wesson Oil and two tablespoons of vinegar. Add a teaspoon of salt, one-eighth teaspoon of pepper. Pour this over seafood and set aside in the refrigerator for several hours. Serve with Lemonaise.

Sauce for the Goose is . . . not always Sauce for the Gander

SOME things go well together—like cranberry with turkey, jelly with duck, mint with lamb. And some things do not. Nowadays when we make so many different kinds of salad no one salad dressing will suit every salad.

mix a dressing appropriate to the salad

For instance on crisp, cool greens, a tart dressing such as Vinaigrette Dressing. On fruit, try a sweet dressing such as Bar-le-Duc. Shrimp or fish, on the other hand, should always be marinated* in French Dressing and served with Lemonaise or Tartar Sauce.

WE WOULD like to send you with our compliments, a little book by Mary B. Murray on appropriate salad dressings—a book that not only suggests what dressings go with what salads, but which offers many helpful suggestions to the hostess as to correct salad service. Mrs. Brower Gives Radio Talk On Contacts of Woman's Club

Mrs. George Brower, chairman of the Atlanta Woman's Club, delivered the following interesting address on the organization of the Woman's Club and its contact with the life of the state, over the WGST radio station at the club's weekly radio hour last evening:

Some 38 years ago, in the home of Mrs. Rebecca Lowe, on Peachtree street, near the site of the Erlanger theater, a group of far-seeing Atlanta women gathered, with a good deal of fear and misgiving, to discuss the advisability of forming an organization to be known as the Atlanta Woman's Club. Up until that day women had played an enviable part in the home, reigning supreme over father, husband and son, but as to her taking part in the outside affairs of the day—that was absolutely tabooed and no male member of a household would give his sanction.

So without the consent of her better half, these women planned and organized a club to be called the Atlanta Woman's Club. Its object, to bring together the women of their city, women in all walks of life, for the purpose of good fellowship, better understanding and social contact, also to prove to the world that women could manage even more in their homes by participating in the civic, philanthropic and legislative interests of their growing city and in standing side by side with the development of the times they could aid in the progress of a great city, with an earnestness of purpose, a combining of efforts and a unity of thought characteristic of womanhood.

Vision Grows. As their vision grew their club expanded. From Mrs. Lowe's home they moved to the Grant building, then to Baker street and finally purchased the old Wimbley home at 1150 Peachtree street. On that spot they erected a large auditorium for service to the people of their city bringing lectures, entertainments, home improvement devices, new kitchen and culinary methods, mostly free to the public or at a cost so nominal that every woman might avail herself of the educational values. A swimming pool where children could enjoy the warm summer days and where the parents could feel sure of careful supervision for their young. A banquet hall where the youth of the city could safely assemble and the wives of visiting delegates at conventions find a real home and cordial welcome in the midst of a strange city. Never a week has passed in all these years but aid has been asked of the Atlanta Woman's Club for every forward movement in this wonderful and growing city. Some member of the club is leading in every drive of importance. On Poppy Day our clubwomen raised hundreds of dollars for this splendid cause, the same for the forget-me-not drive.

At Christmas with the Junior Chamber of Commerce, 100 poor children were given clothes, toys and good things to eat in our own club building. The single child of one of our most valued club members, 4,000 toys were collected, repaired and distributed also 350 dolls repainted, dressed and delivered at the Yuletide. Coal and food to the poor throughout the winter season, daily labor of love at the community kitchen, the sun parlor for children at Grady hospital and every month an attractive program at Hospital No. 48, also weekly visits to the soldier boys with gift of candies and cigarettes. Work among the men and women in prison, work among the delinquent girls, work among the women in industry, assisting Judge Watkins in the juvenile court, aiding the police woman's bureau, working for the blind, welcoming the newly-made American citizen with a friendly word and a gift of old glory; helping the mountain children at Tallulah Falls Industrial school, and many other worthwhile causes you will hear explained from week to week on our Wednesday evening broadcast over WGST.

Learning sympathy through contact has made of the club a sturdy oak whose branches have grown throughout our state, one of the most interesting of these being the Georgia Clubs of Georgia, all combining to make of our state the garden spot of America. A few years after the Atlanta Woman's Club was organized in 1896, the Georgia Federation of Women's Clubs, headed by the same Mrs. Rebecca Lowe, came into existence. This enabled all the clubs to have a common ground on which to meet and exchange ideas. So popular did this system become that now over 300 clubs avail themselves of the privilege of contact with the clubs of the state of Georgia. Continuing to complete the chain and accomplish for the city what Atlanta what the federation had done for the state, in 1899, the City Federation of Women's Clubs was founded with its first president, Mrs. Julius Brown. The present number of clubs linked together by this federation is now 98 and in the vast field covered by the General Federation of Women's Clubs America, who is first president was again our own Mrs. Rebecca Lowe, two million women are enrolled. Even the most pessimistic of mankind cannot but say that women have proved their ability in every phase of endeavor and that the world is better for their contact.

a menace

Tests show millions of germs survive in handkerchief—to self-infect user time after time.

Kleenex
Disposable Tissues
advised by doctors

NOW latest scientific experiments prove that Kleenex, used instead of handkerchiefs, is the safe way to care for colds.

Ordinary handkerchiefs used during colds were tested in laboratories and found to contain as many as 4,170,000 disease germs—over 200,000 when used a single time. This means that when you use handkerchiefs for colds you actually protect these germs in your pocket or handbag—and then carry them back to your face! Self-infection and serious diseases often follow. Kleenex avoids all danger—you use it only once, then discard.

What Kleenex is—Kleenex is a soft, super-absorbent tissue. So inexpensive that you use each tissue only once, then discard. So gentle that irritation is impossible. You buy Kleenex in Cellophane-sealed packages. Each tissue is as Lake Michigan Building, Chicago, Illinois.

For beauty

Use Kleenex to remove creams, cosmetics from the face. Its absorbency assures thorough cleansing.

Ask for Kleenex at any drug, dry goods or department store; 25 cents, 50 cents and $1. If you have not tried Kleenex, send for a free trial packet to the Kleenex Company, Chicago, Illinois.

Bacteriological tests show:

1. That handkerchiefs used by persons having colds may contain as many as 4,170,000 germs per handkerchief. The organisms included are those associated with colds.
2. That organisms associated with colds, when impregnated upon linen and rinsed in boiling water and soap water, were not killed nor appreciably inhibited from growing.

Could Write a Book About It

"Nine years ago after my little girl was born dead, I took Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound for about four months. The next year I became the mother of a fine 11 pound baby boy. After he was born, I kept on with the medicine to build me up. Four months ago I was nervous and rundown and suffered from other troubles which I knew Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound would relieve so I started taking it and now I feel fine again. Many of my friends could write a book on the good the Vegetable Compound has done them."—Mrs. W. INSTALLMENT XXX.

"In the fireplace, in the living room. At the side. If you push in the fourth tile from the left, and the third from the floor, the whole tiled part opens, and the safe's behind."

"Queer!" said Peter. "Looks as if Benny knew about it, all right. And did you tell Tack you'd be home at half past two? Connolly's got hold of that, too."

"I think I did. I'd have said anything to quiet him just then. At the Fantomas, you mean?"

"Yes."

"I'll have to let Charley know about the safe. I can't figure out where Benny comes in—and how he got to know about that safe. That's the queerest thing yet, Martha. It seems to me."

The doorbell rang, violently, and the both started.

"Up with you!" said Peter, instantly. "May be nothing—may be Connolly. Manuel knows what to do with you." He glanced around. "Nothing of yours here—good! Out the back door—we'll have to take a chance on their having a man there watching."

Peter waited until Manuel had taken Martha out by the service door, through the kitchen; then, as the bell pealed again, impatiently, opened the front door. Behind him was the detective who had first stopped him on the roof, immediately after Tack's body had been found.

There was nothing friendly about Charley's look now; he was again the brutal, harsh-voiced man of Peter's first meeting with him. He thrust a big foot inside the door, and put his shoulder, tentatively, against the door itself.

"I'm wantin' to have a look inside, Mr. Wayne," he said, aggressively. "Brooks—don't stay out here in the hall, and don't move. Keep your eyes on this door and watch any one who comes out. Get me?"

"Right, sarge," said the other. Charley came in; the moment the door had closed behind him he grinned.

"Get her here," he said.

"On the service landing."

"Get her in—quick. We got to get a break once in a while, and we sure got one when the boss man comes down to give your place the once over! You and your sister worked it slick, I'll say. The man downstairs swears Mrs. Wentworth came in with you and went out again about ten minutes after—Brooks heard me sweat it. Him and gettin' it out of him."

Peter had turned already to the other door; he opened it and called, and Martha and Manuel came in. Martha smiled, when she recognized Charley, and he, with a gesture of respect rare for him, swept off his derby.

"Good mornin', Mrs. Thayer," he said. "Be easy now, things is comin' along fine, and you're safe here for a spell. He chuckled. "I'll say you've got this town town wide open."

"I'm worried about Mrs. Wentworth," said Martha. "I don't want her to get into trouble on my account."

"Pardon?" said Charley. "That lady?" Charley chuckled again. "She must have regular with her meals. I ain't had such a laugh since Tony Pastor's closed. The boss man told me along to make the pinch. Very high and mighty and haughty Mrs. Wentworth was—pullin' the 'me good man' stuff on us. She'd ought to be on the stage, Pete—she don't give herself away, the way you do."

"Surprised when she found the madam here wasn't in her room? I'm tellin' you she was! An' 'Well, she says, 'she must have gone out. Inspector, I've been out myself. I don't know anythin' but what could he do? I ask you! He couldn't prove a thing, and anyway, the madam here wasn't under arrest, and he couldn't hold any one for lettin' her get her away or helpin' her to, even. He'd had his men downstairs right along, an' if they was dumb they'd let her slip out that was their bad luck—an' his! He kept his temper pretty well—I'll say that for him."

"What's he doin'?" asked Peter.

"Everythin' he can—and I'll say it ain't much, when you add it up! It's just like I said—he can't afford to admit he's let the madam here get away. There's a still alarm out, but believe me it's still, and how! The stations'll all be watched, and the ferries, and all that. An' he did have the brains to think she might be here—he hopped on that idea quick. Charley's laugh wasn't a chuckle, this time, but the real thing. "Only—he picked me to draw this over! He grew sober for a moment. 'Gawd help me if he ever gets wise to what I been doin'!'"

"I don't see why you're doing so much for me," said Martha.

"That's all right, lady. I got my own reasons. Pete here'll tell you that. I'm tryin' to put somethin' over on my own account. Well—guess I've had time to look the joint over. I'll get along. I'm goin' to leave Brooks downstairs, but he won't bother you up here again—his job is to see that you don't get in. Pete—you be at the Biltmore at 3 o'clock and wait till I turn up, even if it's midnight. Get me?"

And, assuming a ferocious look he turned to the door. Peter let him out, and Charley, with a scowl, turned back to speak to his supposed partner.

"You watch your step, now, fella," he said. "We got our eyes on you—you don't want to get mixed up in this as an accessory, if you know what's good for you."

"Oh, go to the devil!" said Peter. He was getting tired of the way every one thought he couldn't play a part!

Waiting for Charley in the long corridor of the hotel, Peter tried to fit the pieces together; those isolated, unrelated pieces of information that, in the last couple of days, he had collected. It was difficult to realize that only the day before yesterday he had seen Tack, alive and well, not a block away, high up in the Yale Club at lunch.

Peter had lost track of time, as one does, sometimes, when one hasn't slept and things are happening too fast. He had to look at one of the papers he had bought to see what day it was, Thursday! And it had been on Tuesday night that Martha had broken that engagement to dine with him and go to the theater; Tuesday night that Tack had found her and Ross at the Fantomas and made a scene; some time, early Wednesday morning, that Tack had been murdered.

And now, on Thursday afternoon, Martha was lying on his bed, listening for every sound, with Manuel on guard in the kitchen, and Brooks, the soft-spoken, soothing detective, on sentry duty below; and 18,000 policemen looking for her; somewhere Connolly was raging, and Assistant District Attorney Barclay, probably, was being bitterly ironic about the incompetence of the police.

Mr. Cameron, Martha's father, must be well on his way north by this time; Peter wondered, without much sympathy for old Mrs. Thayer. He'd never seen her, so far as he could remember, but it seemed to him that, in some obscure way, if you went far enough back, you would find her responsible for the whole tragic mess.

It was all very well for Martha to blame herself, and no doubt she'd done a good many things she oughtn't to have done, and had left undone many that might well have been demanded of her. But Tack had been, to blame, too, in a way, although—and not just because he was dead, either, and so unable to defend himself—Peter was inclined to think that Tack had been, even in his drinking, even in that queer slowness that had made him waste his life, in spite of his superb endowment, the victim of forces he couldn't have been expected to resist.

Something, somebody, had planted a message in Tack's brain, and it had worked to his destruction. Not Martha; the mischief must have begun long before her time, long before she and Tack had been married. It was a baffling business; it reeked with the cruelty of life; it brought up, in Peter's mind, questions as doubtful as justice or the power to rule their lives in accordance with some underlying principle, whatever it might be, of right and justice.

By DONALD C. BOLLES.
NEW YORK, March 11.—(AP)—The bond market had a tendency to settle today. The average closing price of thirty leading domestic issues composed of equal numbers of railroad, public utility and industrial obligations was 97.2, a decline of 0.2 point for the day.

This minor recession was not surprising after the recent upsurge of the market, and the large volume of offerings. The trading pace slackened to total sales of $1,200,000 compared with $1,300,000 on Tuesday.

Foreign bonds showed marked strength. Gains predominated among them and the obligations of the United States government were weak.

Domestic corporate bonds showed considerable irregularity, although most of the changes were narrow.

New York Central 4-12s of 2013, floated Tuesday, closed steady after a heavy turnover and the series D 4-12s of the Pennsylvania Railroad, a new issue, continued to sell higher than the offering price on the curb.

Warner Brothers Pictures 6s provided the most noticeable narrowing. Steady demand pushed this issue upward for a temporary gain of 5 points and it closed at 55 with a net gain of 3-3/4 points.

METHOD TO MERGE SUGAR FIRMS URGED

NEW YORK, March 11.—(AP)—A carefully devised plan of consolidation of the sugar refining industry is urged by Earl D. Baber, chairman of the American Sugar Refining Company, in the company's annual report released today.

The industry, he said, would benefit greatly from consolidation, such as since the war has been initiated recently in Canada.

The report of the company, a dominant factor in the sugar refining industry and an important Cuban producer, showed a balance of $5.57 a share for the common stock, against $7.77 for 1929. Earnings from operations were reported as $1,288,074, against $8,106,361 in 1929, and a net profit of $1,055,883, against $2,383,952 in the preceding year. Surplus as of December 31, 1932, at $22,043,495, against $21,783,530 at the end of 1929.

69,363 SEED LOANS GIVE APPROVAL

WASHINGTON, March 11.—(AP)—The seed loan office of the agricultural department has approved 69,363 loans totaling $10,720,810 to farmers in the drought area. The loans are from the emergency $45,000,000 fund voted by congress.

This was an increase of more than $2,000,000 over last week when loans totaled $8,439,781.

In the figures made public today the Memphis regional office again led the other four offices with a total of 42,899 loans amounting to $8,629,849. The loans at the other offices were: St. Louis, 16,173, loans $2,004,720; Washington, 7,699 loans, $1,312,166; Grand Forks, 1,789 loans, $344,410; Fort Worth, 533 loans, $129,165.

PIG IRON OUTPUT TAKES FURTHER JUMP

YOUNGSTOWN, Ohio, March 11.—(AP)—Pig iron production in the Mahoning Valley has made another advance with the blowing in of a big Carnegie Steel Company blast furnace at the Ohio works here.

Eleven of the district's 34 stacks now are active and iron production is up at the highest level since early in 1930.

Lower Salaries.

LIVERPOOL, March 11.—(AP)—The General Maritime Council today announced a reduction of 10 percent in the salaries of all its more than 11,000 officers in England, the United States, Canada and afloat, effective May 1.

Limitation of French Italian Naval Program Definitely Set

BY FRANK H. KING.
LONDON, March 11.—(P)—Lin-tation of French and Italian navprograms until 1936 is definitely la-down in the terms of the British Franco-Italian naval accord ma-public today.

But even more important than the technical provisions, in the opinion of the three governments concerned, the agreement brings European peace measurably closer and provides a point of departure for the disarmament conference at Geneva next year.

The accord covers building programs for battleships, cruisers, aircraft

Battleships—Both France and Italy are given the right to complete before December, 1936, two capital ships whose displacement shall not exceed 33,333 tons and whose gun caliber shall not exceed 12 inches.

after completion of the 1930 class they will build no more big cruisers with armament larger than six-inch guns. In the small cruiser category they agree that tonnage of new construction to be completed shall not exceed the tonnage which is replaceable in this category before December 31, 1936.

may build 34,000 tons in this category.

Submarines—Both countries agreed not to include any submarines in the 1931 program and not to lay down any further submarine tonnage before 1933.

The essence of the agreement maintenance of the status quo in tonnage ratios. France retained

The terms were made public in the form of a memorandum to parliament by Arthur Henderson, the foreign secretary, and A. V. Alexander, first lord of the admiralty, who achieved the agreement in conference with representatives of France and Italy.

When the award is formally signed—ceremony for which the date has not yet been set—the official text will be made public and become available for use at the Geneva disarmament conference. Negotiations are proceeding among the interested powers, including the United States and Japan, as to the best method of associating the agreement formally with the League of Nations.

don naval treaty signed last spring.

NEW ACCORD IS HAILED
THROUGHOUT EUROPE

PARIS, March 11.—(AP)—France took the view today, after reading the summary of the tripartite naval accord, that problems of parity between the French and Italian navies

Italian reaction to the accord, reflected in comment from Rome, was that Italy had achieved virtual parity in keeping with Premier Mussolini's policy of Italian prestige.

ter has done her duty toward civilization." In Paris the naval and finance committees of the chamber of deputies hailed the accord as satisfactory to-night after its provisions had been interpreted by Foreign Minister Briand and Charles Dumont, minister of the navy.

The accords are regarded as the rational complement of the London naval treaty in bringing France and Italy closer together. It was assumed here it would need no ratification by parliament and officials believed modification of the Washington treaty implied in the slight increase in battleship tonnage for France and Italy could be dealt with through diplo-

It was argued in Rome that the French superiority on paper of 229,000 tons in 1936 is mainly in battleships and airplane carriers, which Italy does not want, and in obsolete units. It was calculated that deduction of airplane carriers and of French over-age tonnage as of 1936 will make the French superiority less than 80,000 tons.

000 tons. Italy regards this as practical parity, since Italian territory is concentrated and its fleet is highly modern.

PASSIVE APPROVAL BY U. S. IS WASHINGTON'S IMPRESSION

WASHINGTON, March 11.—(AP)—The attitude of the American govern-

Secretary Stimson, while declining to make any formal statement in connection with publication in Europe of details of the settlement, reiterated that the accord was acceptable to the United States.

Indications that capital ship tonnage allotted to France under the Washington arms treaty would be affected were not considered highly significant here.

The variation in tonnage which might be established by the accord was considered so small that it was not looked upon as important.

The American government has been advised only of the basis of the settlement and has not been informed of the exact form.

Ramsey, returning to Knoxville yesterday from Jacksonville, Fla., made a $25,000 bond on the two federal charges.

A letter from William J. Carter, United States district attorney for east Tennessee, informed A. V. Malone, district attorney here, that certified copies of the indictment had been mailed Monday to the marshal at Knoxville, and he presumed these would be forwarded here, along with capiases.

RAMSEY'S TRIAL SET FOR NEXT SATURDAY
KNOXVILLE, Tenn., March 11.—(AP)—J. B. Ramsey, former president of the closed Holston Union National bank, under five state indictment charging fraudulent breach of trust and larceny, will be arraigned for trial in criminal court Saturday.
